Foreword

A shout rings out—Beat 'em, Boys!
Typewriters click,
debaters clash . . .

The hum of foreign dialogues carries into the halls . . .

One group stands about the altar and calls—Lamb of God . . .

Another waits in squirming lines
to take a T.B. test . . .

And somewhere down the hall
some Roaring Twenty films evoke a burst of laughter . . .

This is Quigley, Young and Alive;
This is the 1970 GENERATION

Dedication

"Good morning, faculty and students.
This is Sister St. Bede speaking."

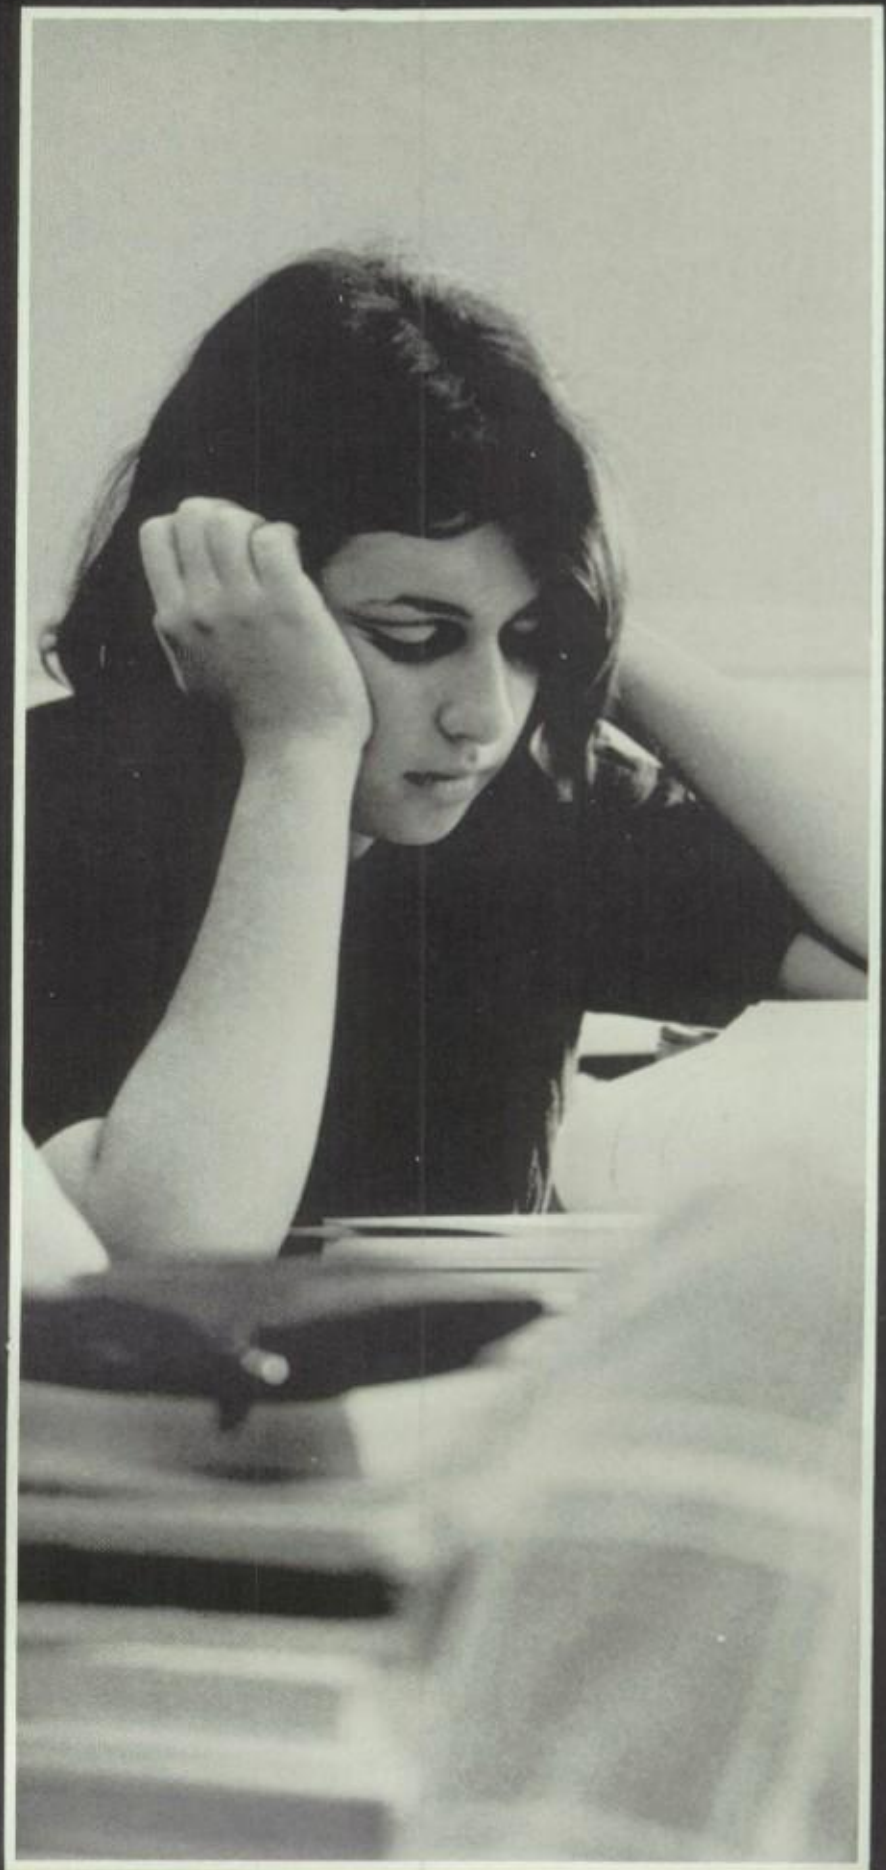

Who among us will ever forget that frequent refrain? Who won't remember your clearing the corridors, checking our uniforms, popping into study halls? No one who is part of the Young and Alive generation will ever forget.

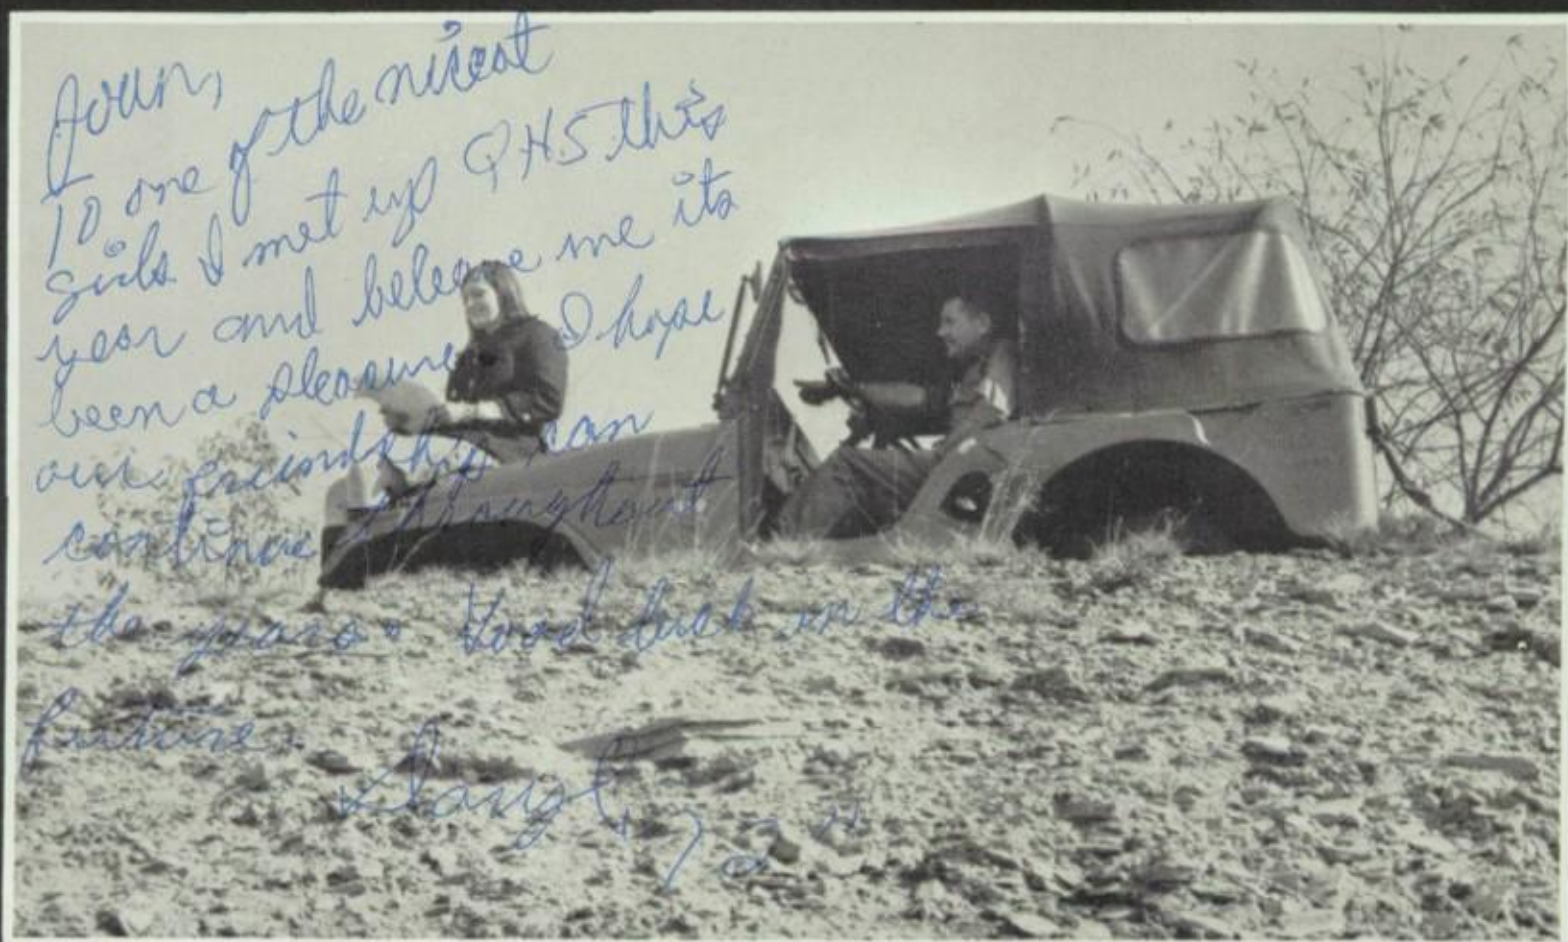

Quigley has been fortunate to have you as its Vice-Principal during its growing years. You have dedicated yourself to the work of seeing that the young, tender limbs grow straight. You have recognized us for what we are and for what we believe in. We respect you for this.

And, in heartfelt gratitude for your concern and encouragement through our Young and Alive years, we dedicate this 1970 GENERATION to you.

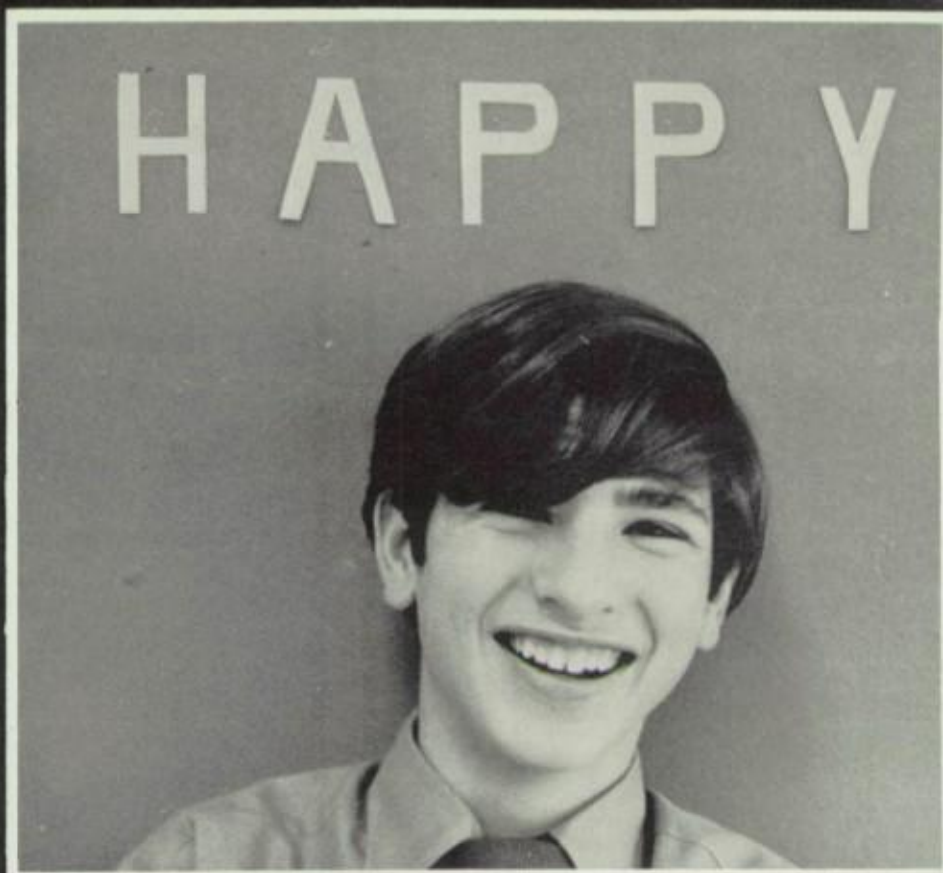

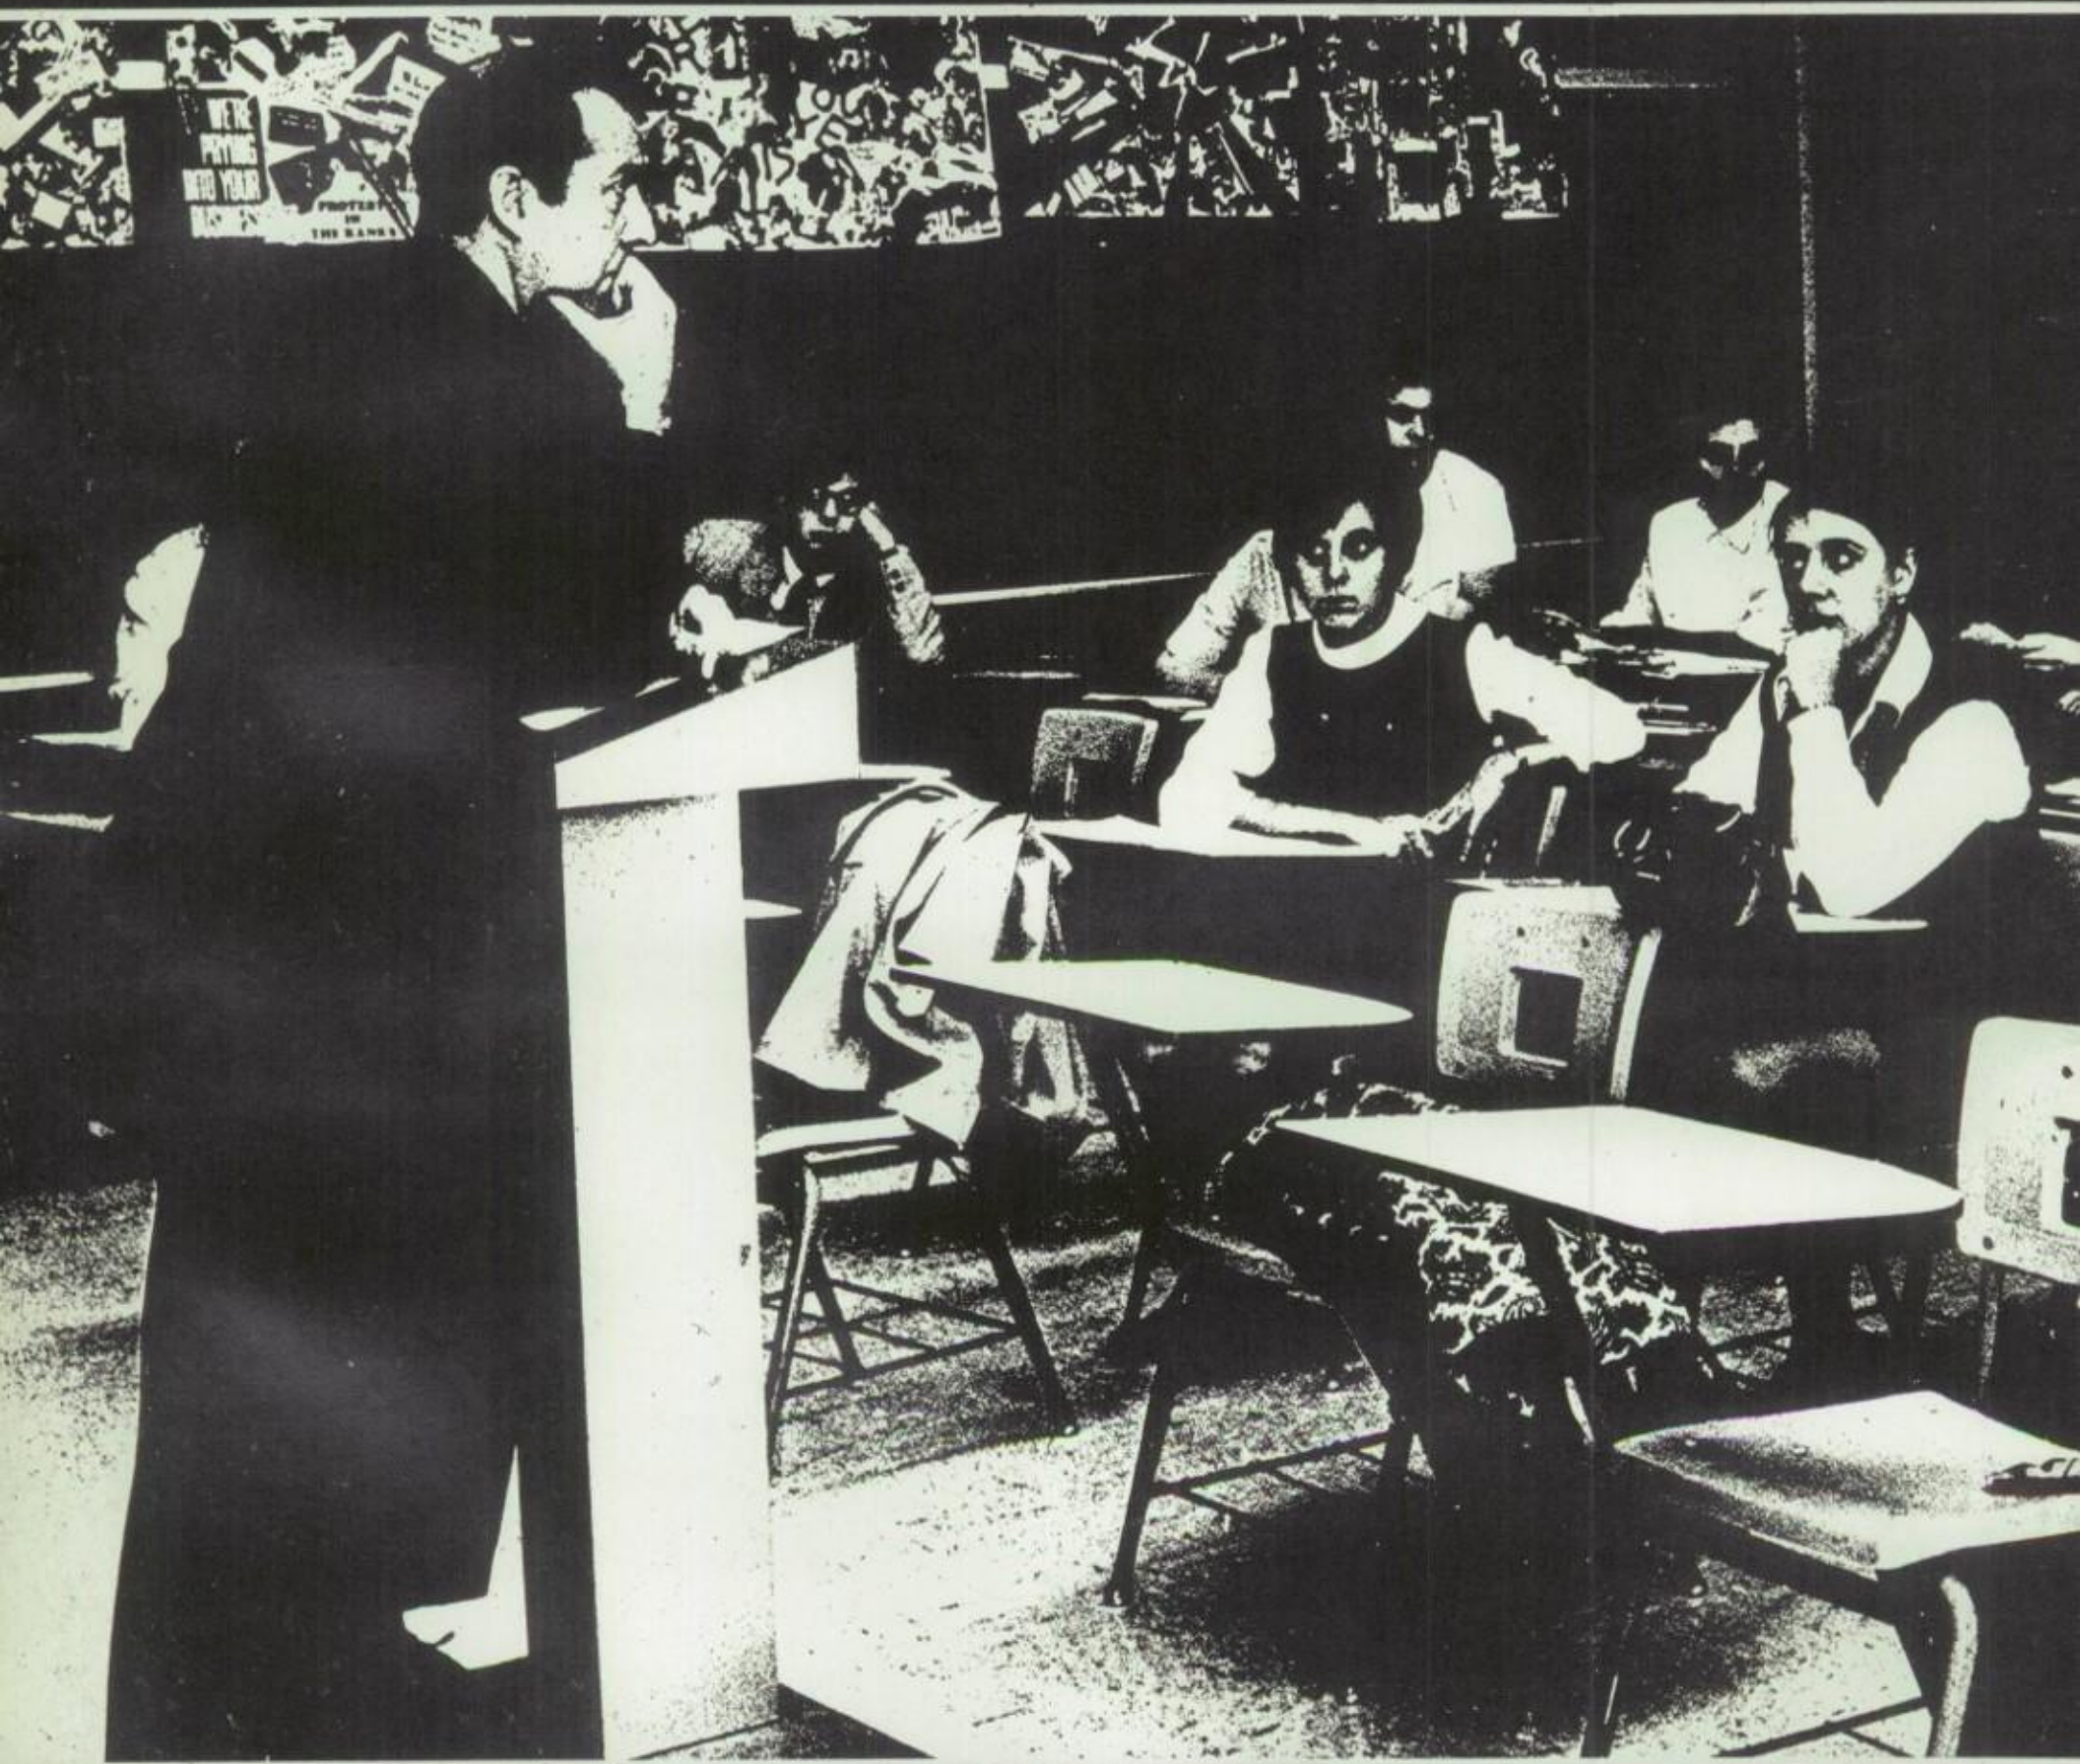

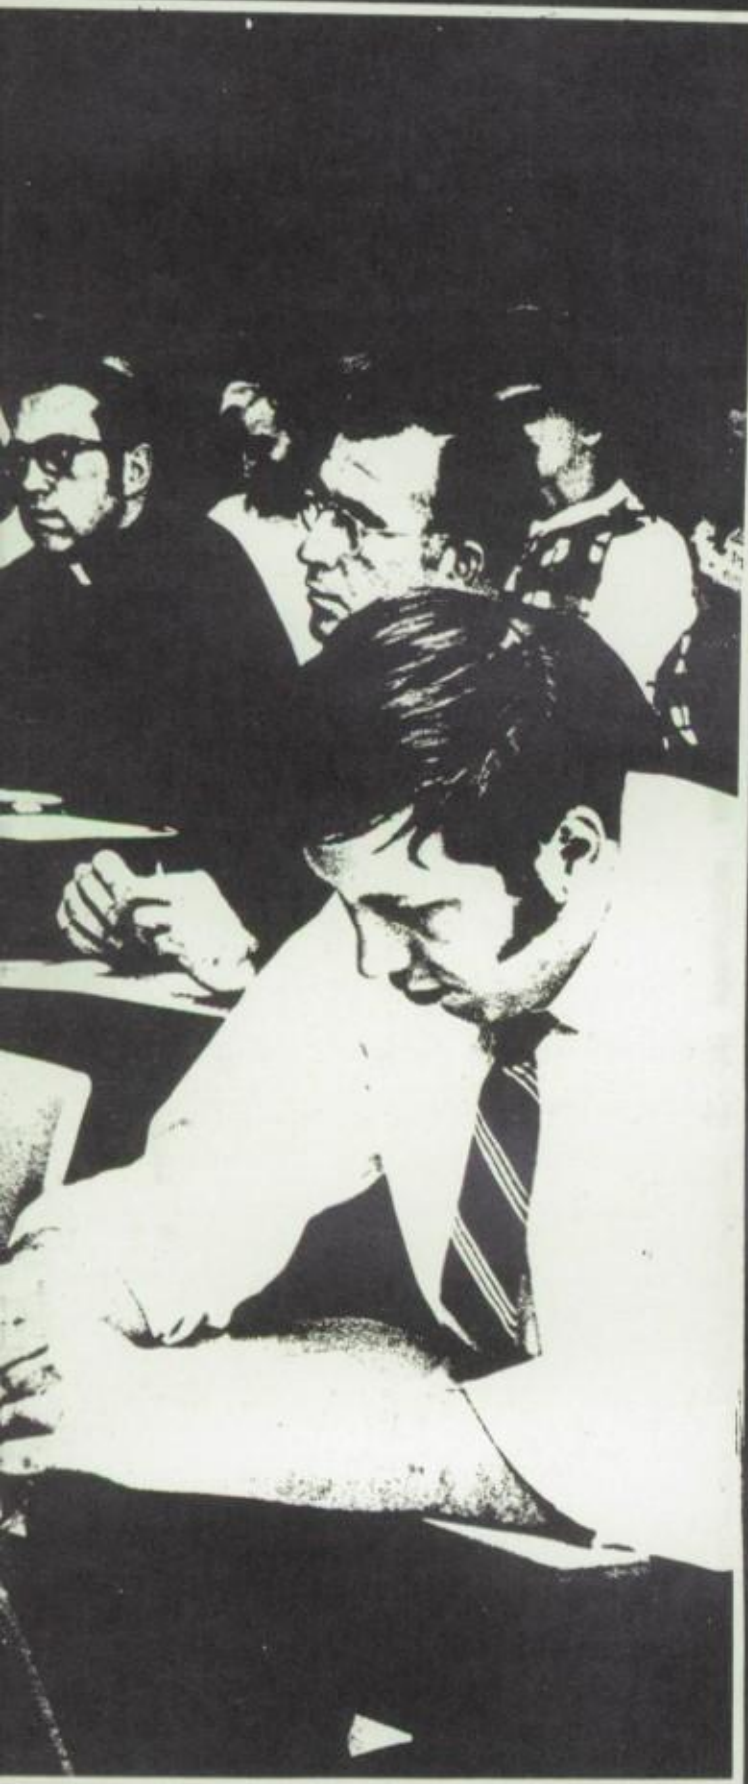

Administration, Faculty

They worry about our minds,
our bodies, our souls.

Their time is ours.

Their talents are ours.

Their prayers are ours.

Such people never count the cost.

They grow tired and weary

... but never stop

They brighten up when we do good,

They lose sleep when we fail them.

... and still they believe in us.

They count on us.

We just never get around to telling them we know.

These are the people who make life
worth living

and make us, like them,

YOUNG and ALIVE!

Religion and Guidance

The teaching of religion at Quigley High School is shared by three Capuchin priests. Fr. Marvin Justi teaches the freshmen and half of the sophomore class. Included in the freshman course is the study of the Bible, especially the Old Testament, and its relevance for today's Christian. With the use of films and filmstrips the sophomores are given a deeper insight into the sacraments and the New Testament. In instructing the juniors, Fr. Fred Just builds on the previous two years and shows how the Gospel is applicable to modern day life. The Parable of the Prodigal Son, for example, is shown to be the story of the present day dropout or runaway child. The seniors and half of the sophomores are taught by Fr. Bernie Kustra. The graduating class receives a thorough course in preparation for marriage and discusses many important relevant questions regarding the Faith. By using materials from everyday life, students are made aware of the fact that religion is not just another subject in high school, but rather a Christian life to be lived day by day everywhere.

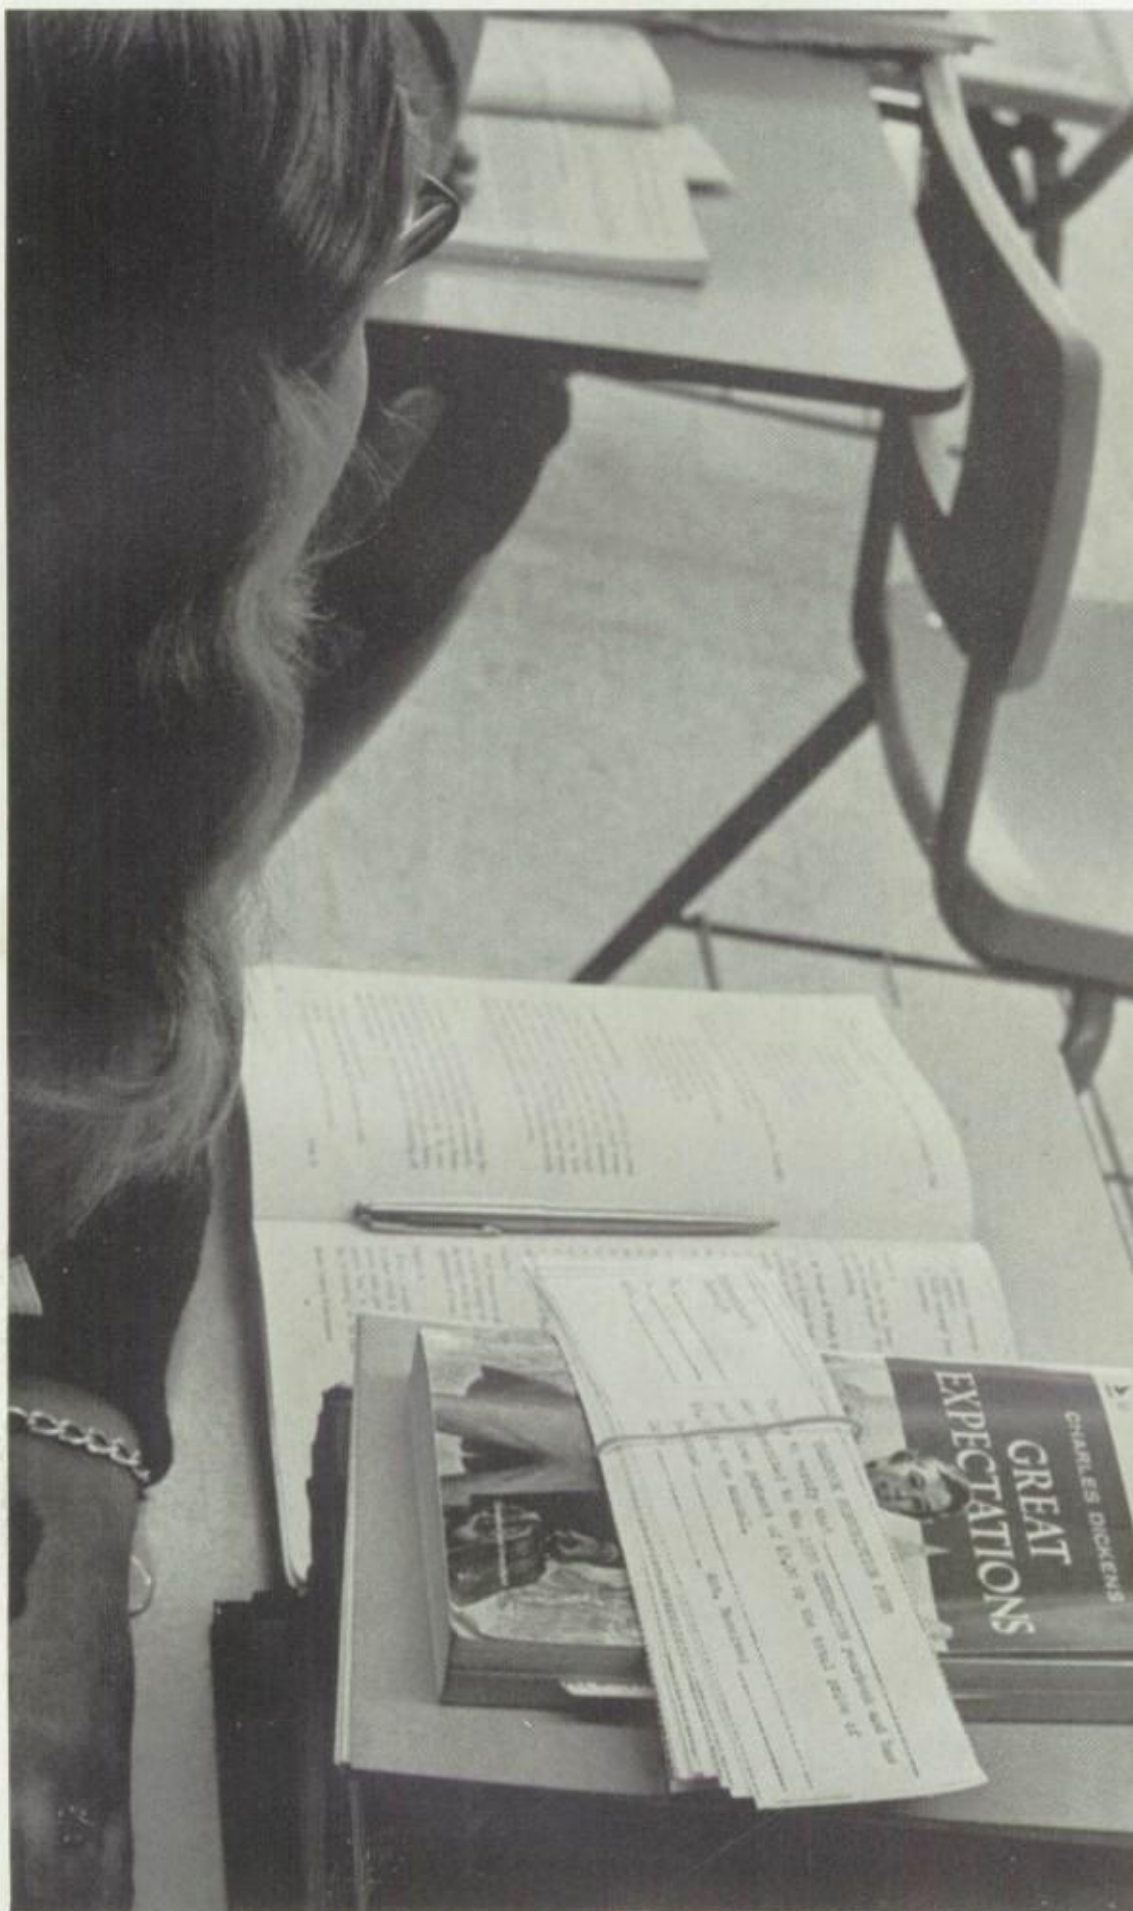

The Guidance Department of Quigley High School, with the cooperation of the administration and teaching staff, aims to provide the students with all possible help and encouragement in becoming persons of integrity, intelligence, and self-direction. A testing program, designed to provide pertinent information at vital points in the students' development, has been instituted. Among the testing devices used are the High School Placement for incoming freshmen, the National Educational Developmental Test for sophomores, the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and intelligence test for the juniors.

Results of testing are used in counseling sessions in which the guidance counselor seeks to help students understand themselves and their potential realistically and assists them in their planning for the future—be this in terms of a choice of college, business or vocational school, or in the securing of employment.

Felt to be even more important than the testing and dissemination of educational and vocational information are the opportunities afforded each student in counseling sessions to express himself, to make choices and to evaluate the consequences of these choices; and to see his relationship and responsibility to others; thus enabling the student to become a happy, self-determined, well-adjusted, contributing member of society.

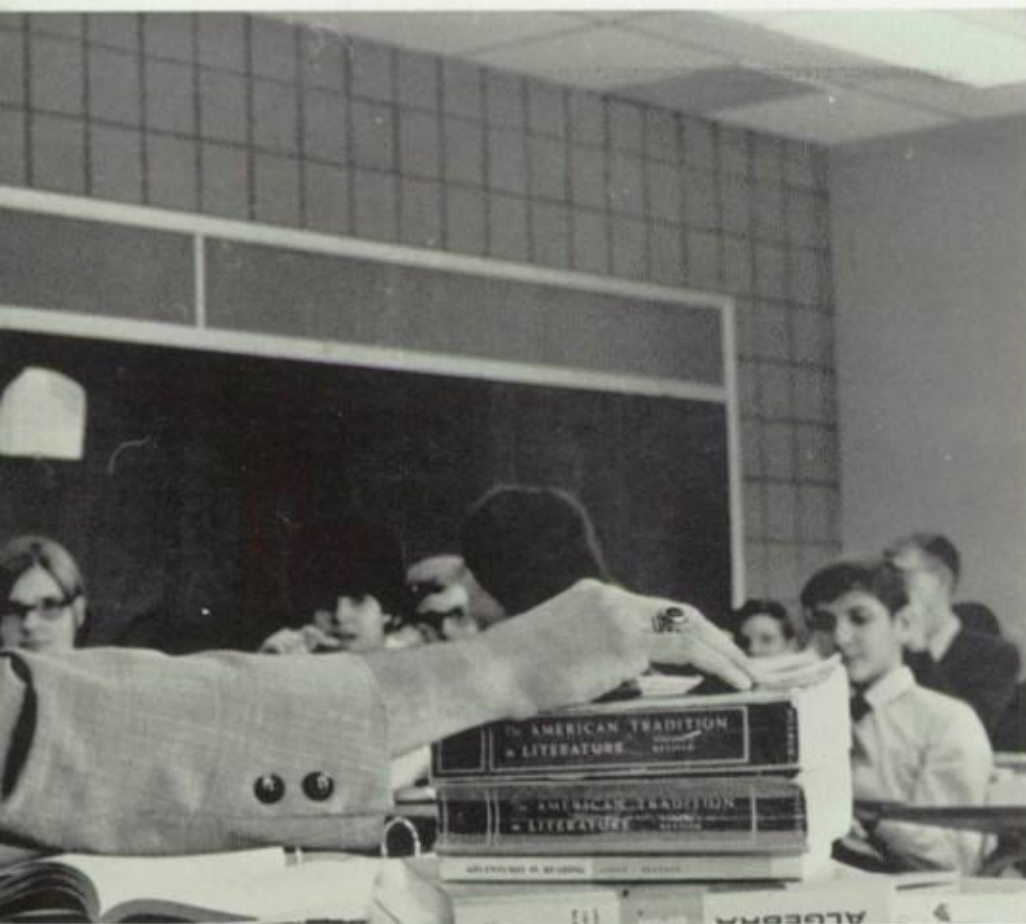

English

Alive and vigorous—such is the state of the English program at Quigley High School. Students not only learn to appreciate the contributions of the masters to literature; they themselves contribute fruits of their own creativity, whether these be sketches depicting the Canterbury pilgrims, original ballads, sonnets, free verse, short stories or drama, oral interpretation of literature and public speaking. All these are intended to give students new insights into literature, grammar and creative writing.

Miss Rose Kadison, department head, guides the efforts of junior and senior classes. English I comes alive under the leadership of Mr. Timothy Waxenfelter who also teaches one section of junior English. Sister Charlotte, V.S.C., uses her many creative talents to make English more meaningful to English II classes. Freshmen are instructed in Library Science by Sister Teresa, C.S.J., as part of their English program. A Developmental Reading course, an elective for those students who wish to improve reading skills, is conducted by Mr. Dennis Montini.

Social Studies

The primary aim of the Social Studies Program at Quigley High School is the development of articulate, socially conscious citizens possessed of strong moral principles and capable of becoming competent members of the Church, the State, and various institutions to which they may belong during their lifetime.

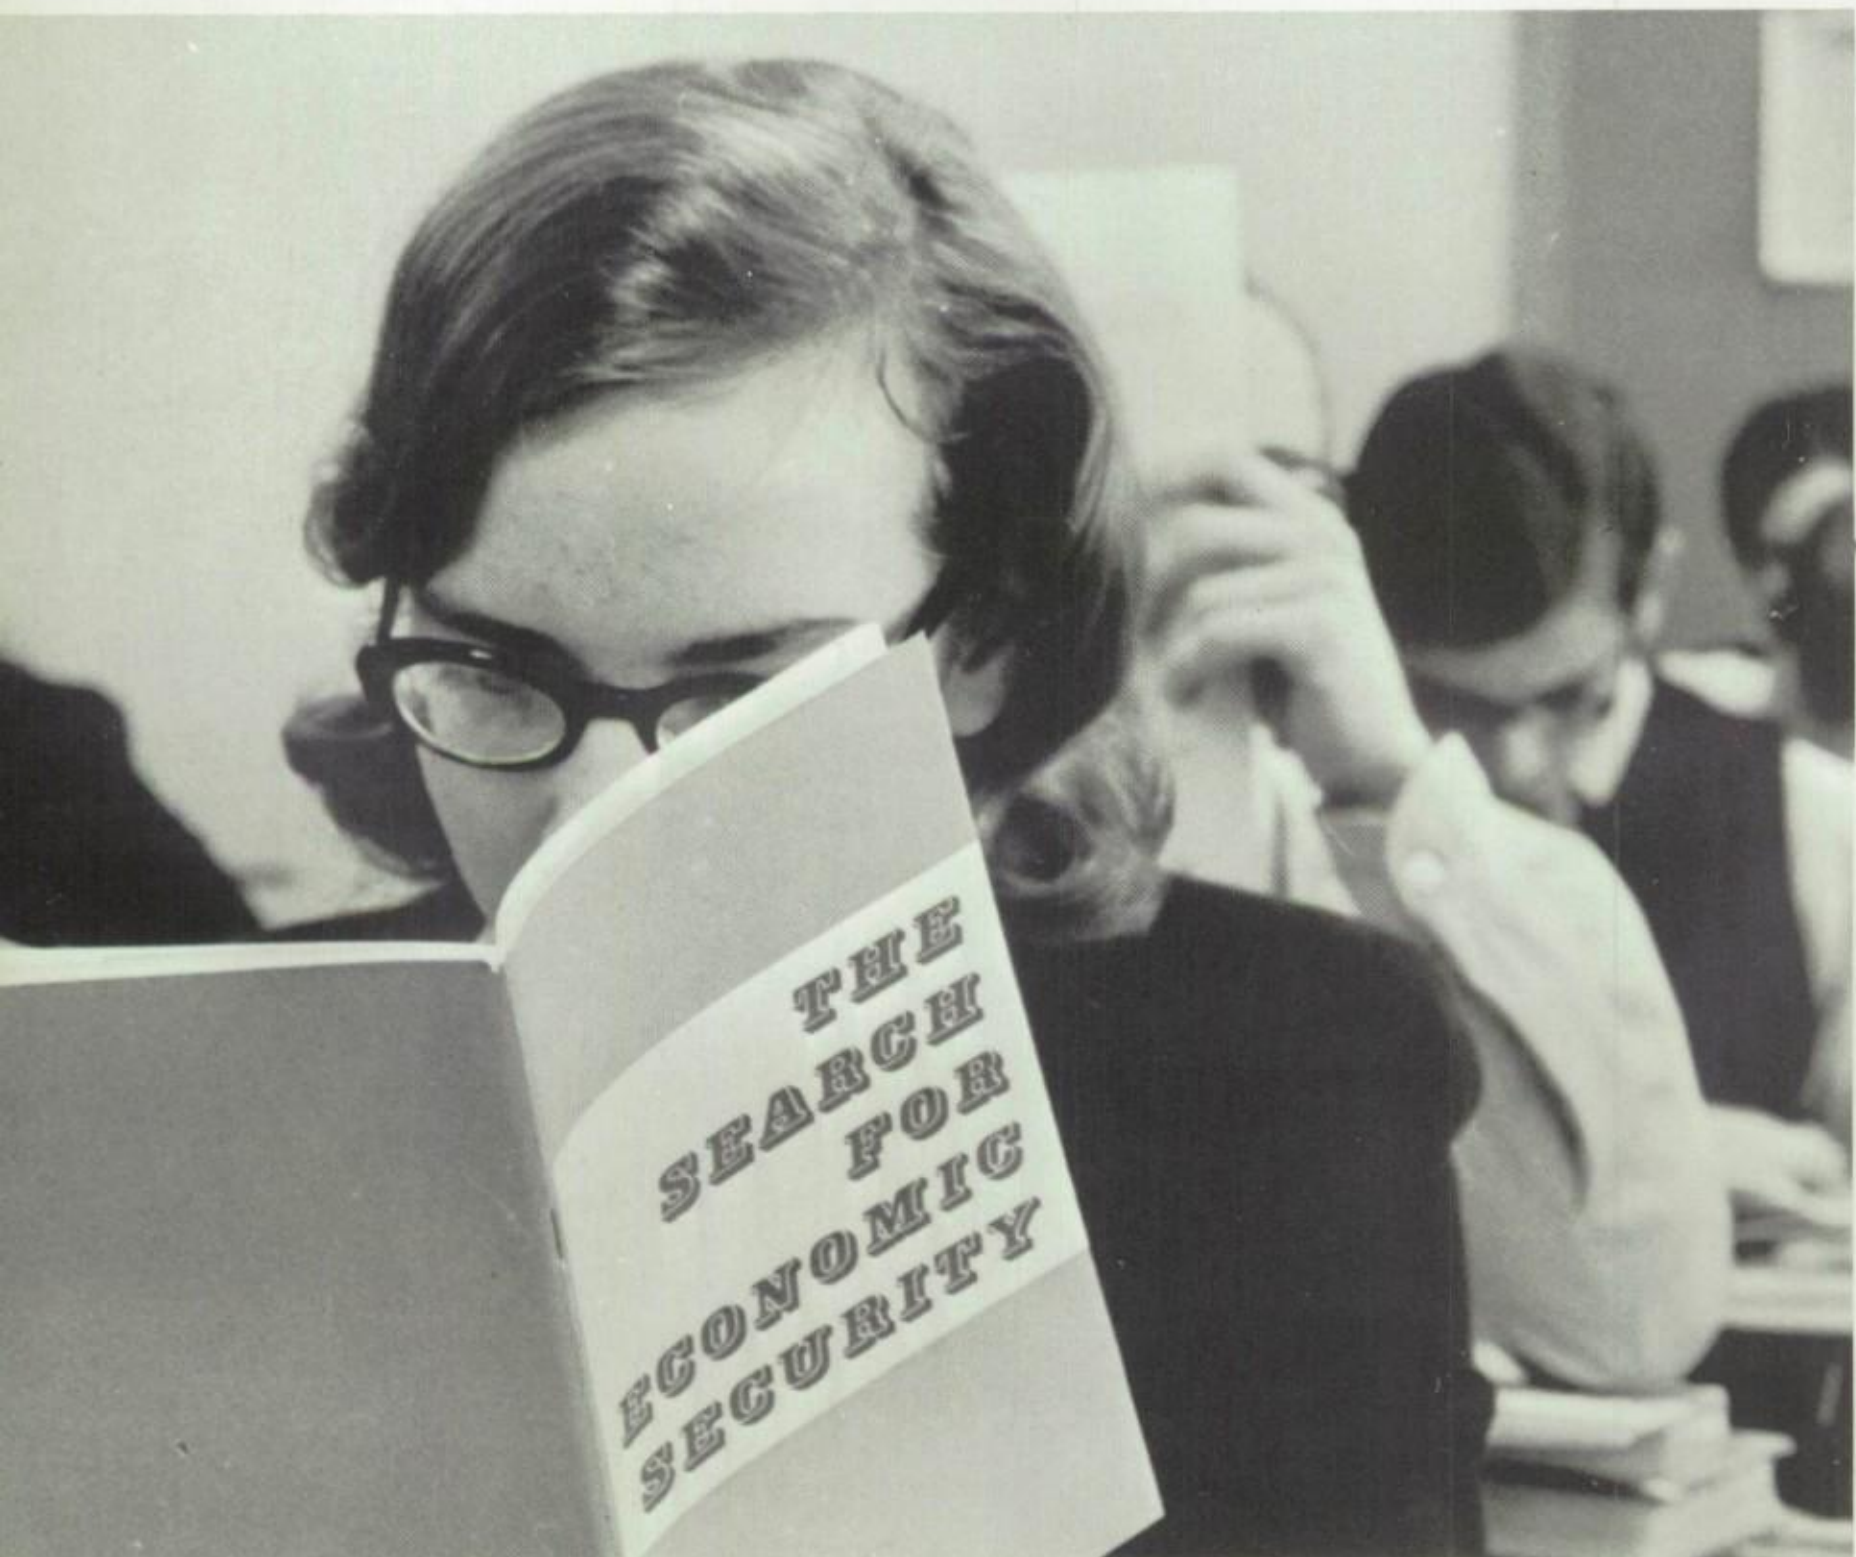

In order to insure this aim, our students must learn to assess the nature of values through the knowledge of history, the scholarly disciplines of the social sciences, and the correct understanding and appreciation of cultural differences so that desirable contributions of every religious, racial, and socio-economic group may be preserved.

Consistent with this philosophy, the following is the course of studies for the Social Studies Program at Quigley:

Grade 9—World Cultures

Grade 10—World History

Grades 11 and 12—Three semesters of American History. The fourth semester is divided between Economics and History of Minority Groups.

Mathematics

One important criterion for a GENERATION that is YOUNG and ALIVE is awareness of ideas both past and present, new and old, abstract and concrete, real and imaginary. Then, that generation must have the proper guidance in order to bridge the gap. This discernment is precisely what the arts and sciences attempt to promote as the primary purpose in the education of the whole child.

It is in this light that the Mathematics Department endeavors to prepare its students. Consequently, the development of four different tracks was necessary:

TRACK I—HONORS

Plane and Solid Geometry
Algebra II and Trigonometry
Pre-Calculus
Analytical Geometry and Elementary Functions

TRACK II—COLLEGE PREP

Algebra I
Plane and Solid Geometry
Algebra II and Trigonometry
Pre-Calculus

TRACK III

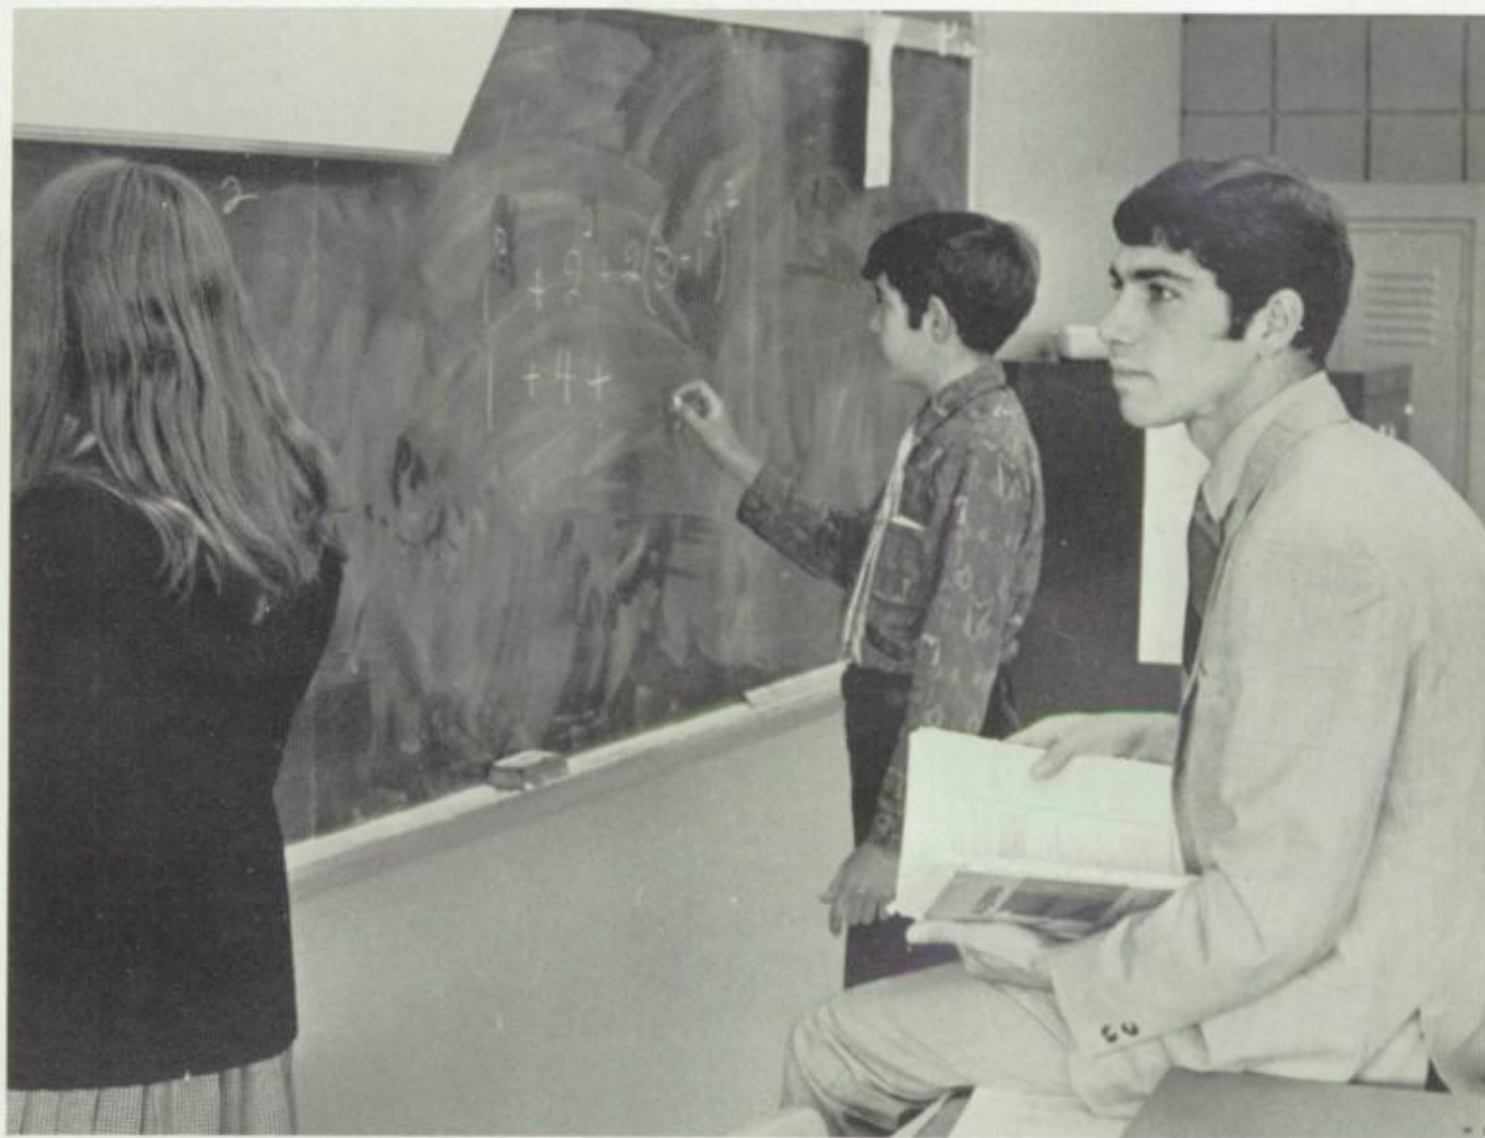

Algebra I
Plane and Solid Geometry
Algebra II
Trigonometry

TRACK IV

Modern Math Algebra I Geometry
Algebra II

The chief purpose for developing these four tracks is so that each individual student, no matter what his particular mathematical abilities, is able to enhance his potentials to meet the needs of his, the YOUNG and ALIVE GENERATION.

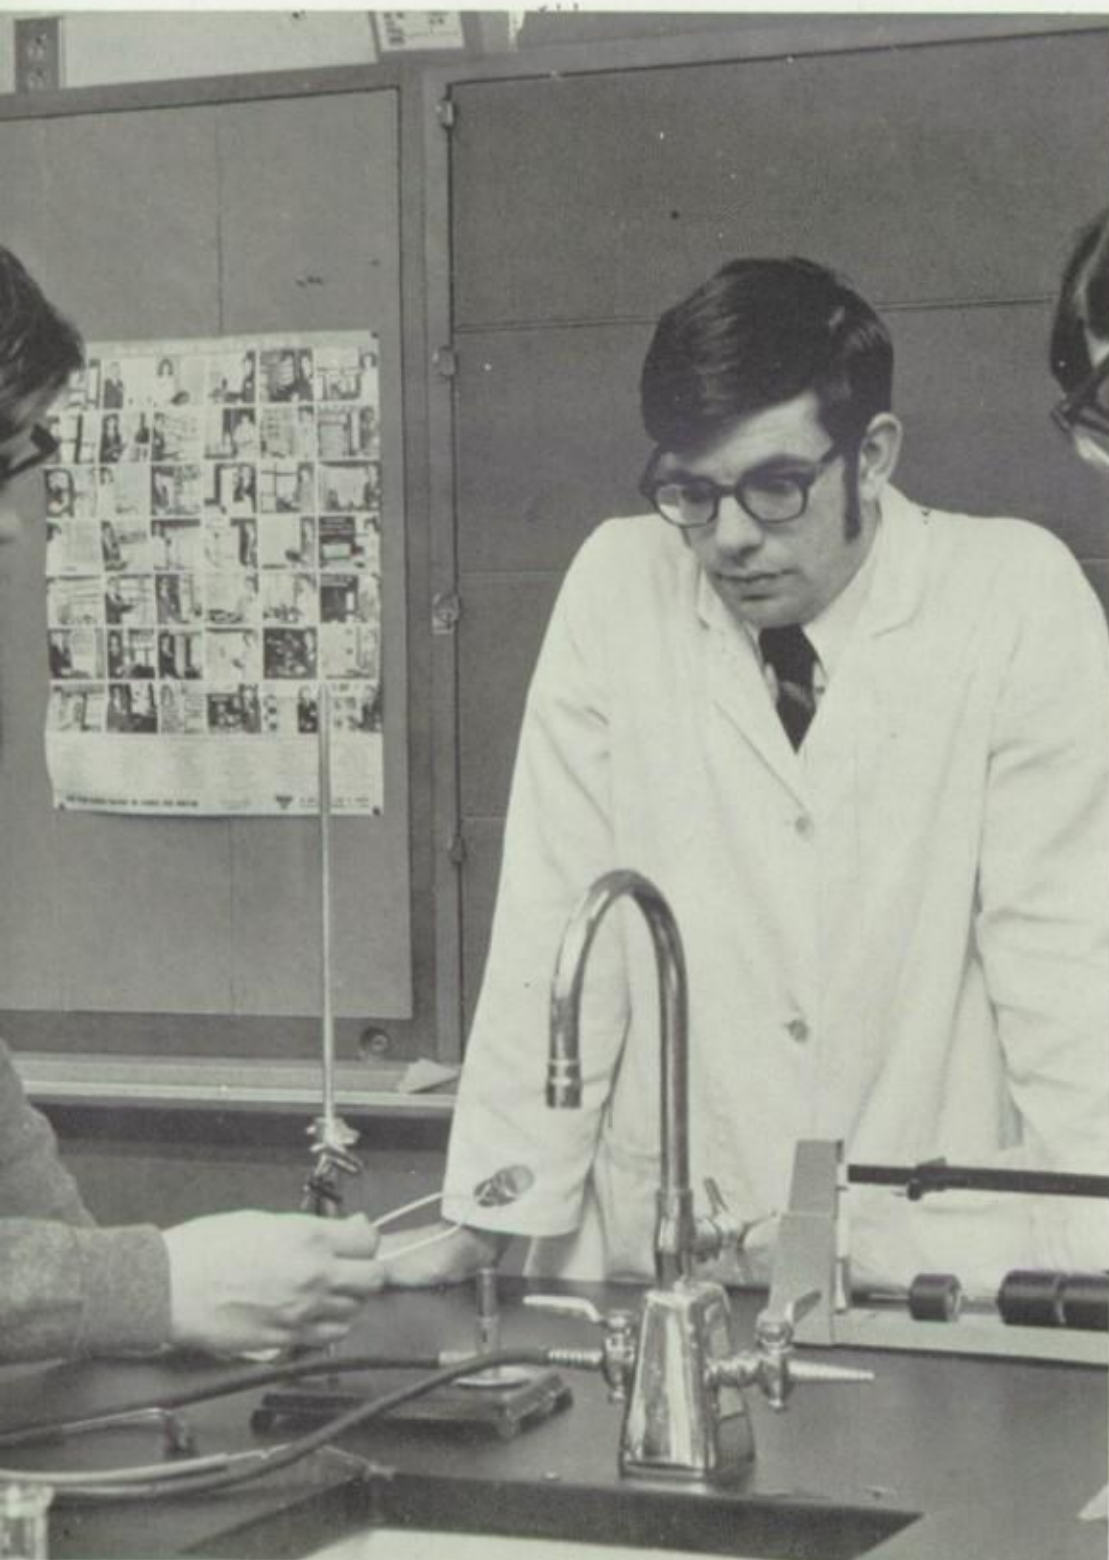

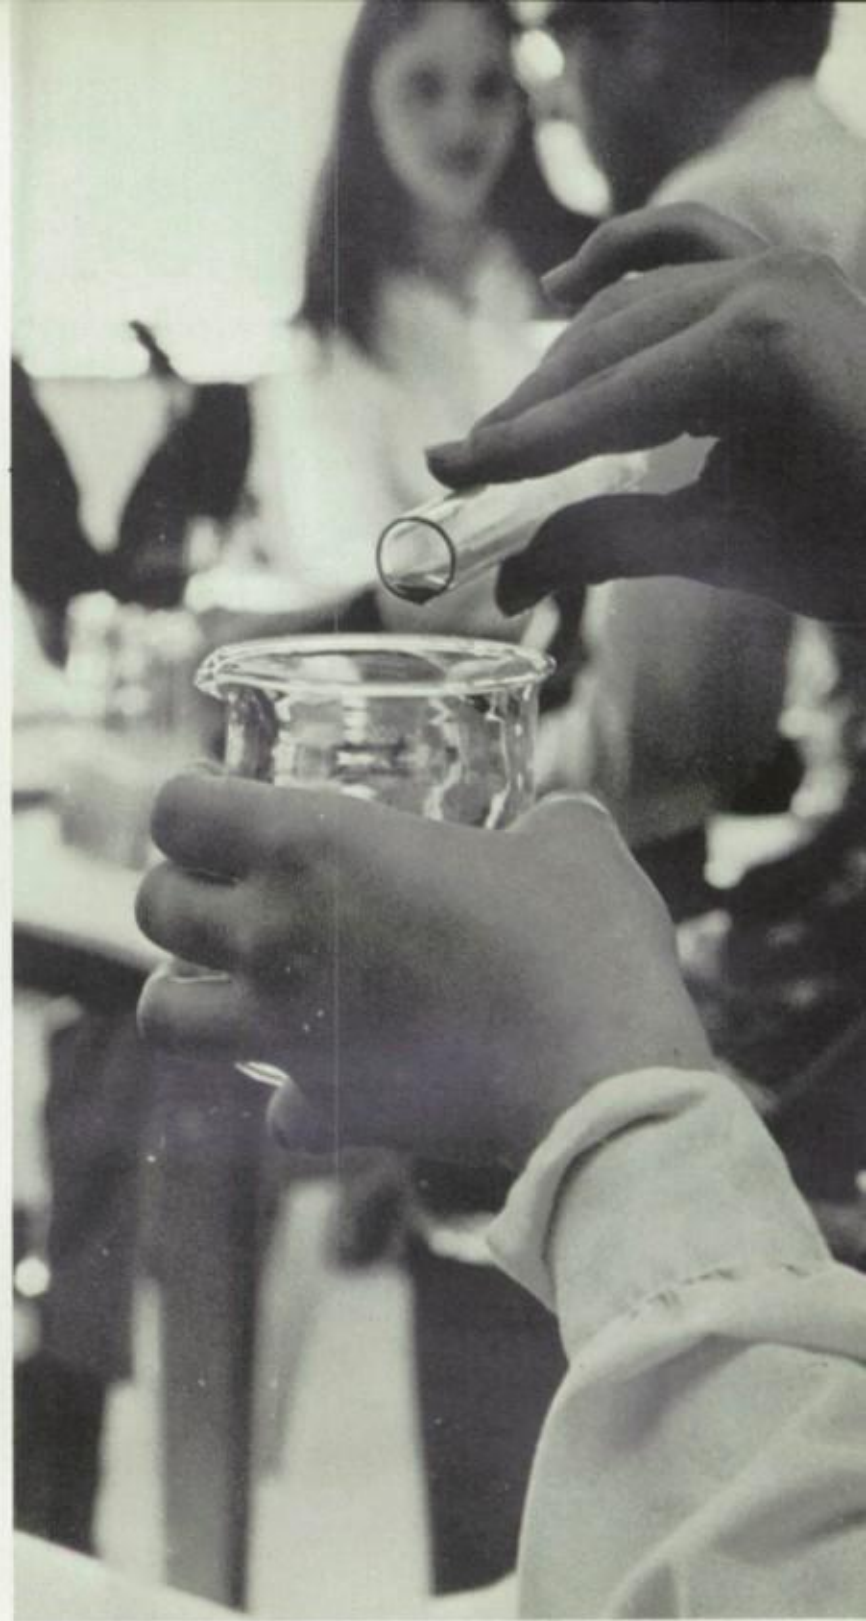

Science

The science curriculum at Quigley High School aims to present to pupils an understanding of methods used by scientists to obtain information and to give them a chance to formulate their own problems and work out schemes for uncovering facts for themselves. As a result of science education students learn to employ sound thinking habits in meeting problem situations in the daily walks of life. They also learn to recognize and accept their place in a society which is largely scientific in character.

Sister Mary Frances, C.S.J., department head, together with co-workers Sister Ann Green, C.S.J. and Mr. John Rowse, recognizes good textbooks, statement of principles, and a well-developed curriculum as essential to Quigley's science program. A happy combination of these factors accounts for the great success enjoyed by the science courses offered here.

Languages

Quigley High School would be incomplete without the Language Department to add culture and variety of scope to its educational system. Students who assume a position in one of three courses: Latin, Spanish or French, then, are assured a progressive and well-rounded foundation.

Latin classes start the ball rolling with the freshmen and sophomores under the able direction of Sister Ruth McDade. Sister Maureen, V.C.S. and Miss Maria Fattore are outstanding teachers of Spanish. French classes profit from the ability and experience of Sister Mary Bernice, C.S.S.F.

Quigley's Language Department is one of the finest centers of learning in the school and builds grace and charm in those who profit from it.

Business Education

The Business Department of Quigley High School offers as electives Shorthand I and II, Typing I and II, and Bookkeeping. It is the aim of this department to provide a solid foundation for those students who will seek further education in this important field.

An additional objective of the department is to provide the necessary skills, techniques and attitudes for those students who will seek employment upon graduation.

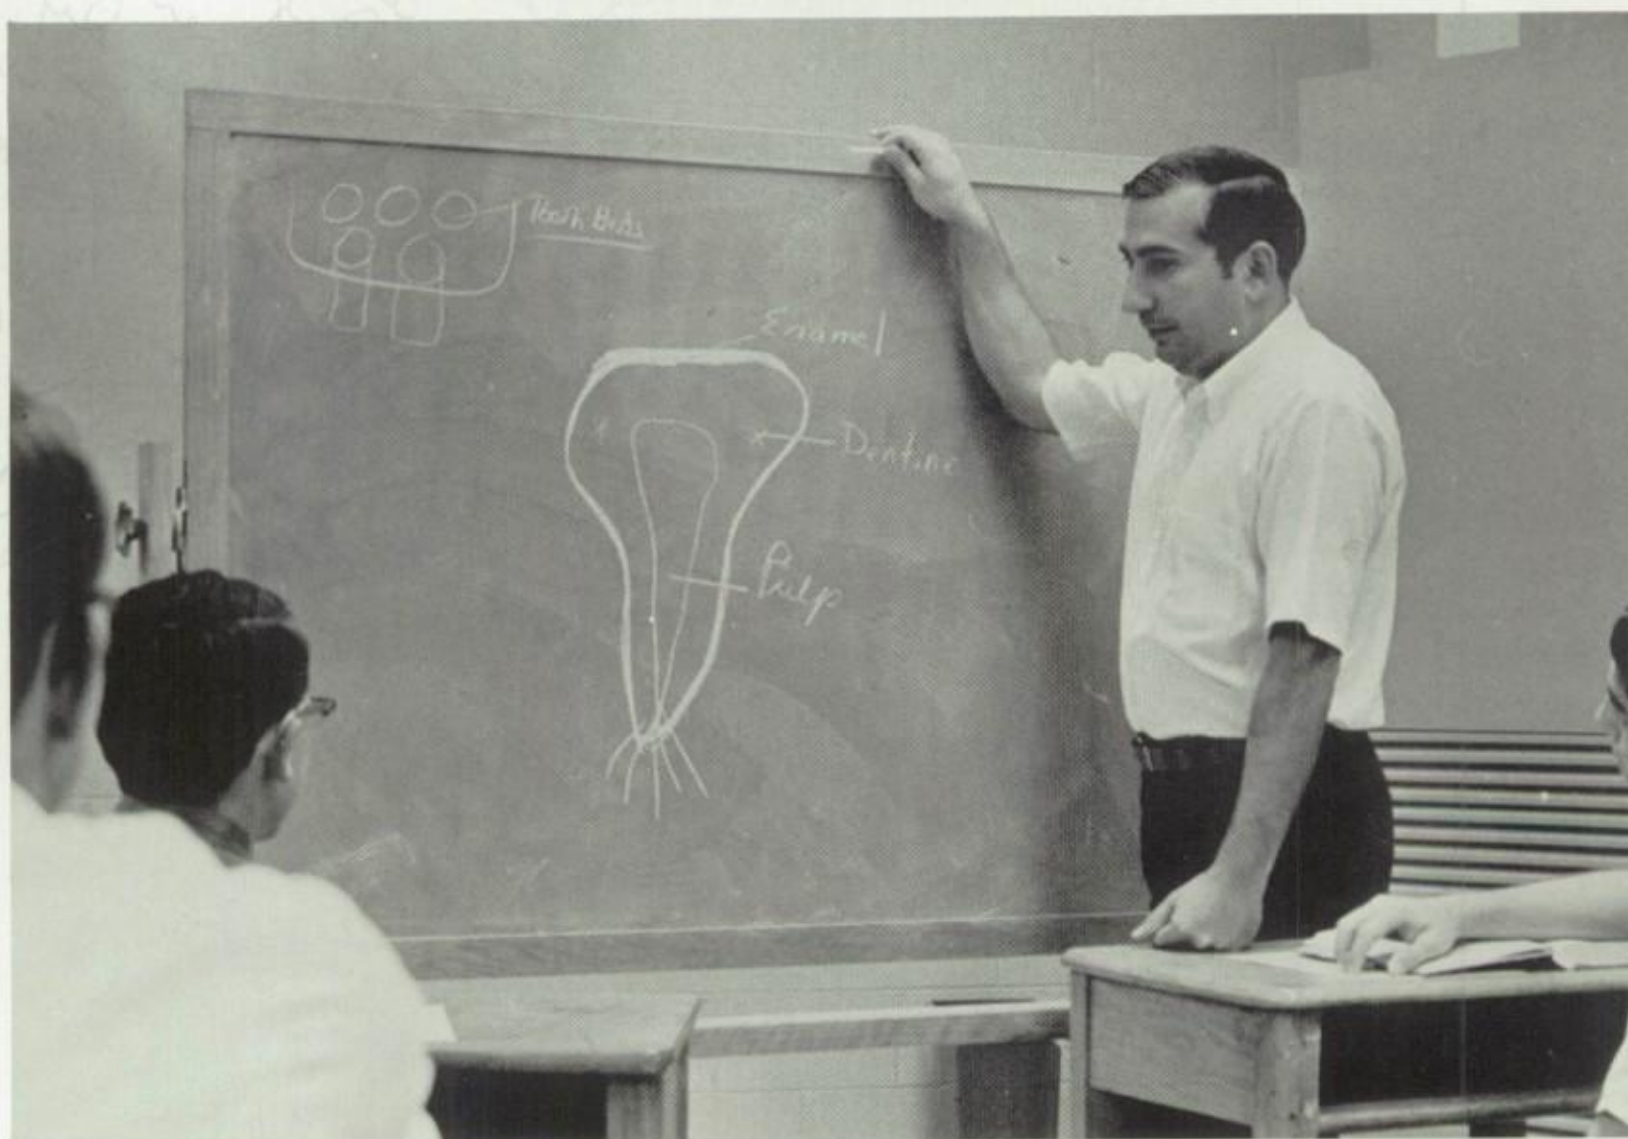

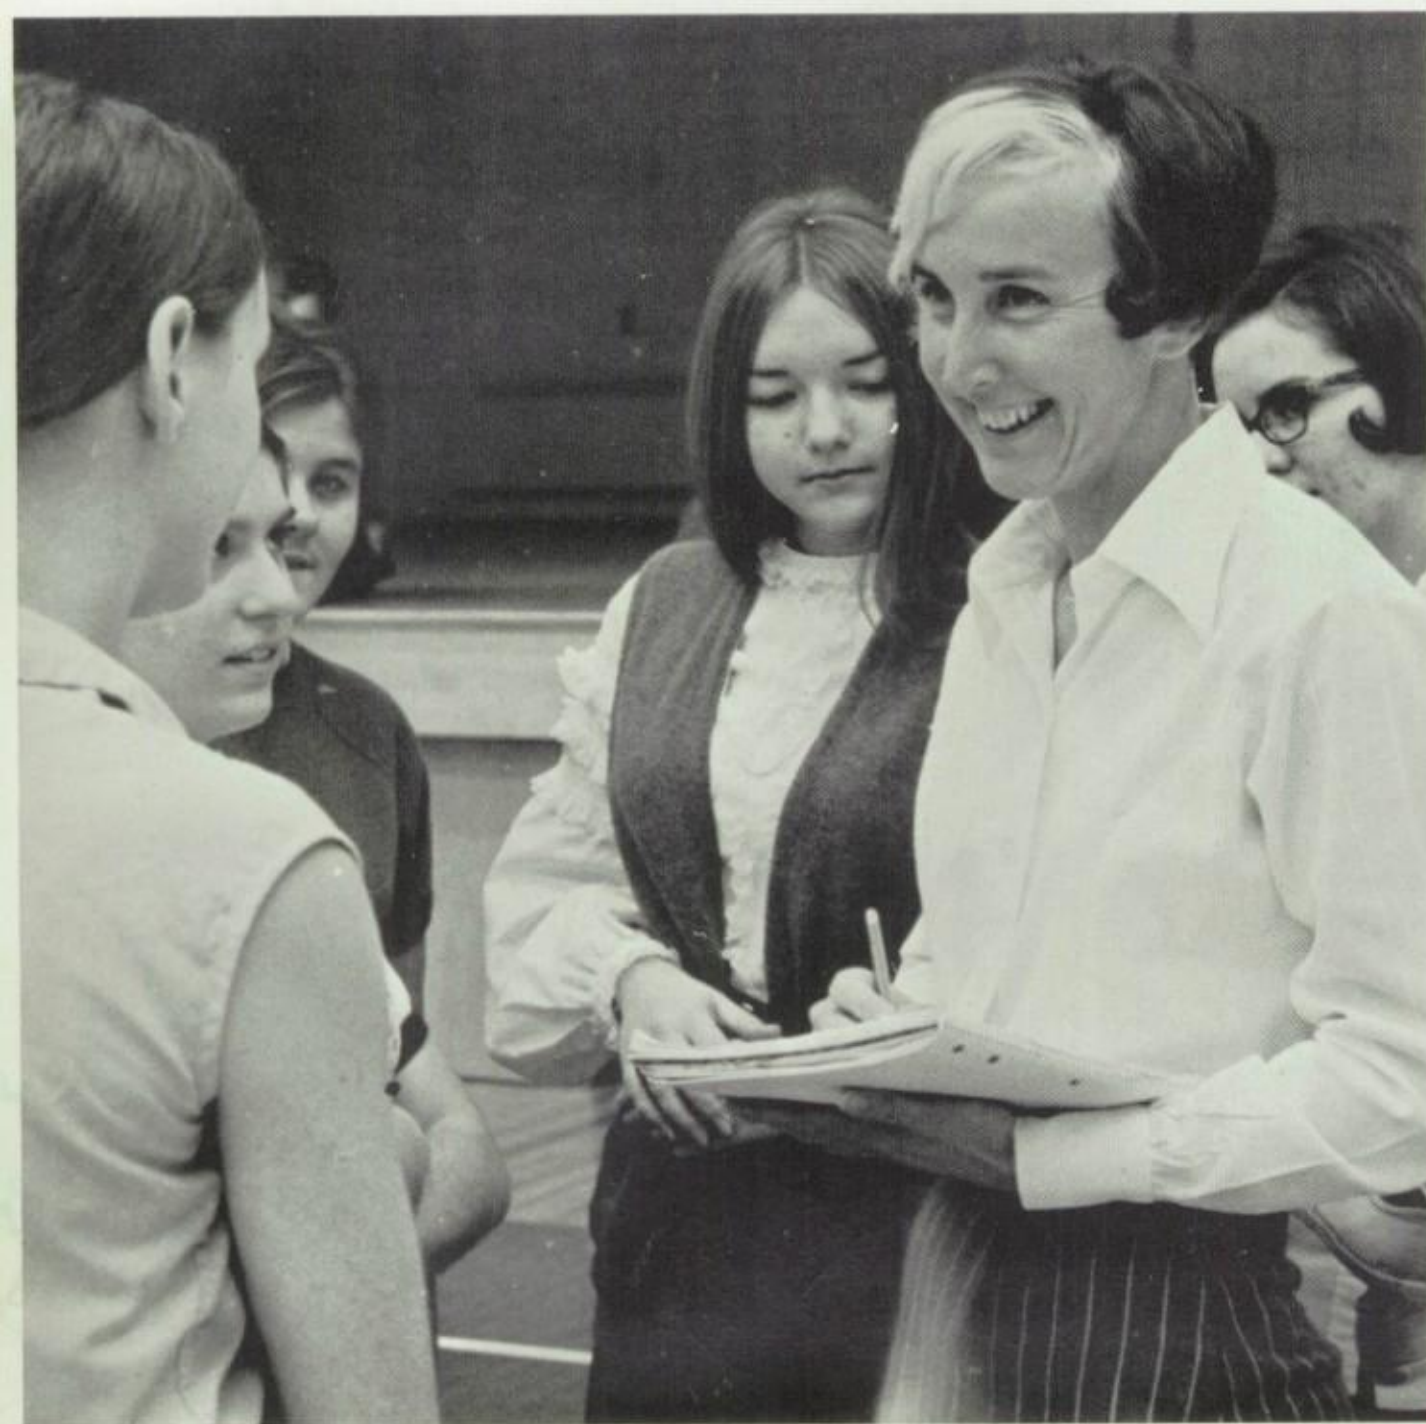

This program of education for an in business experience is an integral part of a total program of education. This total program of education, in turn, is an integral part of personal, occupational and social living in an increasingly complex and changing world.

Physical Education and Health

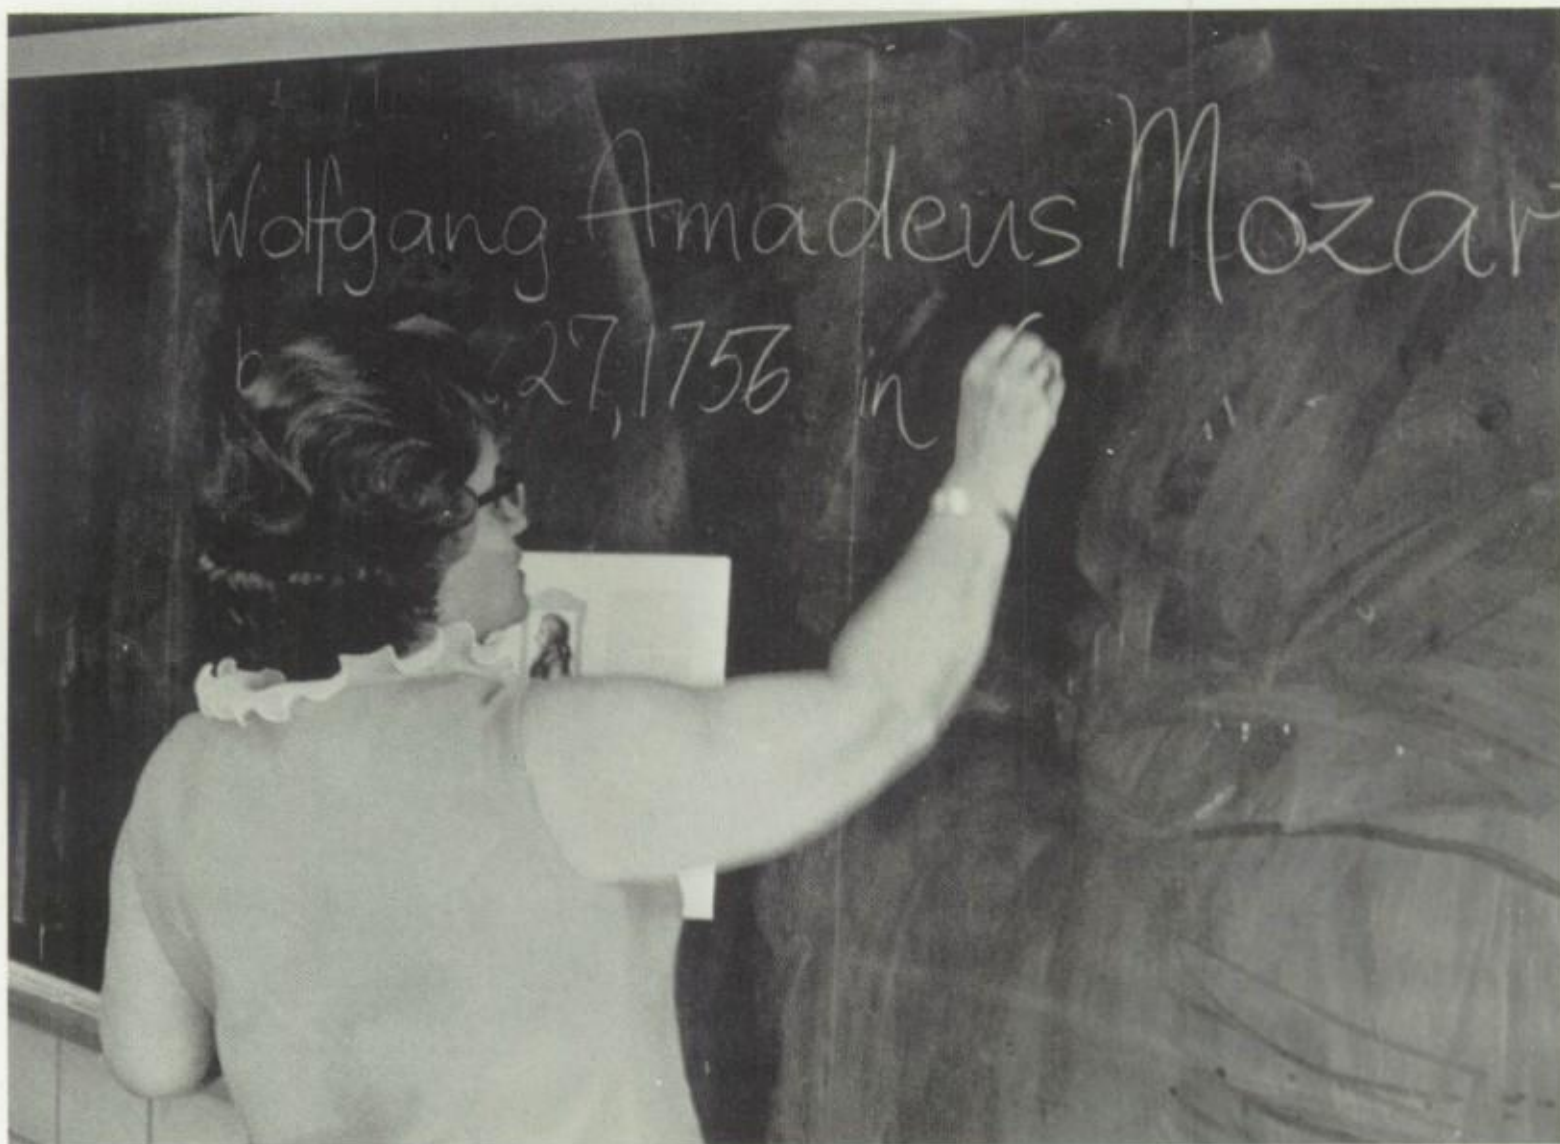

Quigleyites are kept both physically sound and mentally alert as a result of a vigorous program in physical education and health. Under the strict discipline of Mr. Macaluso and Mr. Driscoll, the boys keep stepping in a course which stresses the development of individual skills through calisthenics and a wide variety of sports, games and lessons in personal hygiene.

Girls are fortunate to have Mrs. Marian Evans as their leader. Under her lively direction, gym comes alive in the form of calisthenics, relay races, invigorating games and sports. All these contribute to the development of every phase of mental, emotional and physical hygiene.

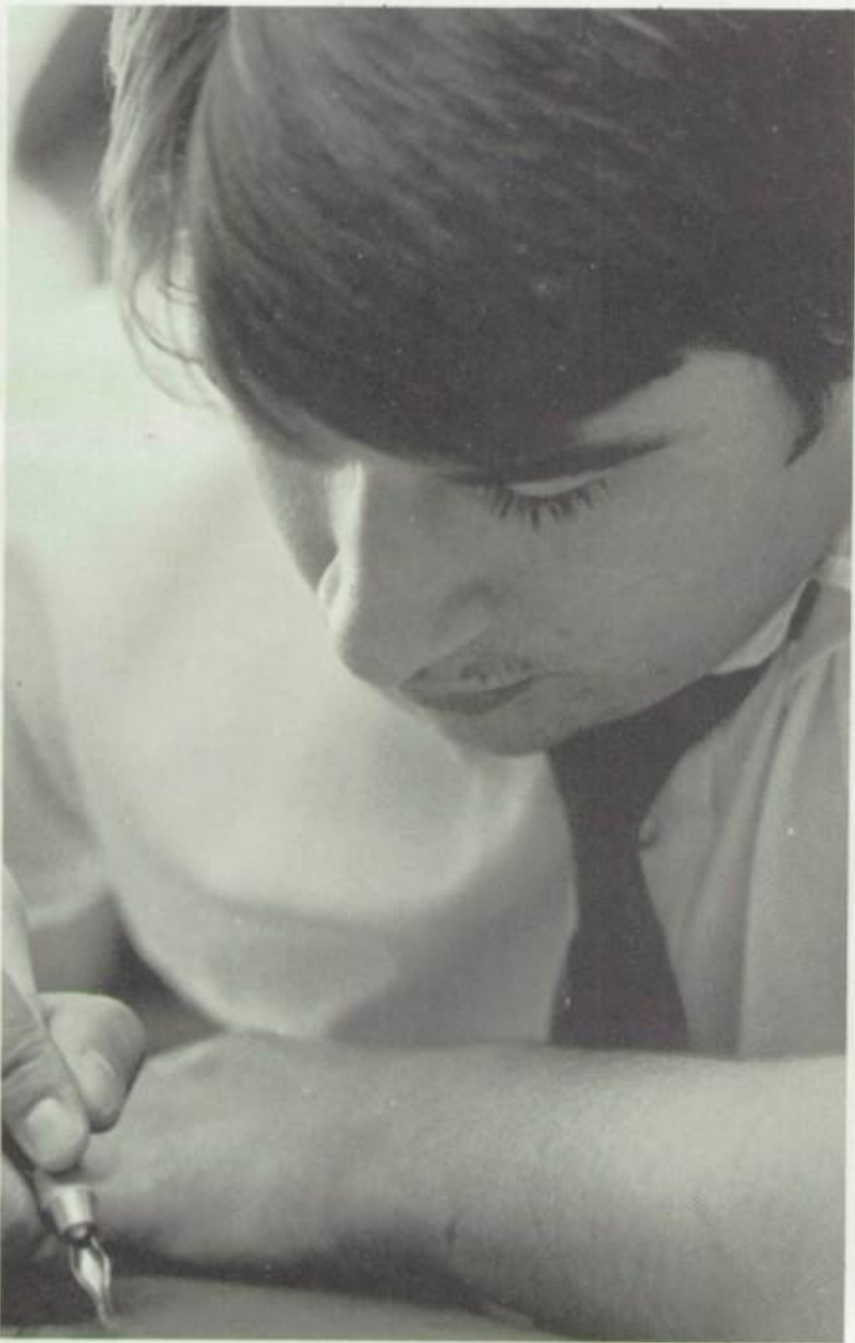

Fine Arts

A well-rounded student is versatile in all areas of the curriculum, aesthetics not excluded. Quigley's fine arts program affords him an excellent opportunity to develop an awareness of and sensitivity to beauty and truth in the world of sight and sound.

Music classes, conducted by Mrs. Elko, train students in theory and actual singing, besides building appreciation of the masters of the musical world and their works. Music history forms an integral part of the course.

Under the expert guidance of Sister Charlotte, V.S.C., art students grow more deeply aware of beauty and perspective in life while learning to use different media to express their own creativity in graphic form. The results are magnificent and draw a favorable response not only at Quigley but wherever they are exhibited.

Activities

Leadership, Initiative . . .

The Student Council of Quigley High School provides the best possible form of communication between the administration and the student body. It also renders many needed services to school and community through participation in the school board, regulation of school activities, and guidance of smaller school organizations. These are only a few of the varied responsibilities shared by Mr. Montini and student council members.

While the individual and his problems are not overlooked or neglected, the council dedicates its efforts towards the well-being of the entire school. It raises funds necessary for various activities within the school; it welcomes and guides visitors; it works to increase cooperation among schools in the community; and it constantly seeks new solutions to pressing student problems. Major projects of the Council include: semi-formals, weekly dances, academic assemblies, and the preparation of Student Directives as guides for incoming students. An excellent theme for Quigley's Student Council is Spirit with Cooperation. While leadership is being developed within the student council member, he is, at the same time, made more aware of himself and his community.

N.H.S. Honors Scholarship

Leadership ... Character ... Scholarship ... Service ... These words describe one of the most exclusive organizations of Quigley High. Only after attaining a 3.4 quality average and meeting with faculty approval can a student be considered for permanent membership in the National Honor Society. Members are honored not only for outstanding achievement in their studies but also for their worthy leadership, desire to render service, and encouragement of the development of character in fellow students.

The sponsorship of College Days and guest speakers as well as a tutorial program are but some of the accomplishments of the National Honor Society at Quigley.

Preparing Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America, a co-curricular activity, encourages students to become capable teachers while providing them with actual teaching opportunities at Quigley. This year the organization is concentrating its efforts to obtain a national charter and sponsor a trip to a state teachers' college. Its annual event, Student Teaching Day, will provide the answer to Mr. Rowse's persistent question: Do you really want to be a teacher?

Forensics

The purpose of Quigley's Forensic League is to promote the interests of interscholastic debate, oratory and public speaking by encouraging a aims to develop the skills of self-expression and to form effective speakers possessing the qualities of leadership, ambition and maturity.

Worthy candidates receive degrees according to the number of points earned by participating in weekly tournaments sponsored by the National Forensic League. Categories represented in these tournaments are: extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, impromptu, declamation, drama, and oral interpretation of literature.

Academy Spurs Interest in Science

Under the direction of our Science Department, the Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science forms one of the most educational associations at Quigley. Members are constantly preparing papers for regional meetings of the Academy, and a greater interest in the sciences is promoted by field trips. Members are taught to view problems from new aspects and to present their discoveries to other students, thus keeping them aware of recent developments in the world of science.

Spanish Clubs Revel in Hispanic Culture

Officers of Modern Language Honor; C. Biller, president, P. Wilton, secretary, and P. Bennett, treasurer, compare notes with Spanish Club officers: G. Kuzma, vice president, C. Chinchilla, secretary, P. Jarzynka, vice-president, and E. Fawcett, president.

Sr. Maureen, moderator, is moved to laughter by a Spanish joke told her by Walter Domitrovich.

Under the spirited direction of Sister Maureen, V.S.C., Spanish students profit from membership in the Spanish Modern Language Honor Society or the Spanish Club. Meetings of both groups are spent discussing the culture of Spain and observing the delightful Spanish holidays when pinatas and other festive pieces are produced to brighten the halls of Quigley. The Spanish Club also initiates interest in the Hispanic world by welcoming members to all aspects of its culture, education, and traditions and by encouraging a better understanding of the Spanish language through a knowledge of its people and customs.

Math Groups Enrich Curriculum

Sister Mary Alexander, moderator, and members of the Math Club: D. Monyak, N. Savie, D. Joyce, C. Narkevic, W. McDermott, T. Gnajtovich, and N. Susak.

The Math Honor Society is a Diocesan organization that offers each year a math course to top juniors and seniors in Catholic high schools. Projective geometry, being offered this year, includes eight teaching sessions held at Central Catholic High School. The diocesan director of the Math Honor Society is Quigley's Sister Clare Ann. Another member of the Quigley faculty, Sister Mary Frances, taught the first two sessions of the course in October.

The Math Club, under the direction of Sister Mary Alexander, meets twice a month. Its primary goal is to give members some additional instruction in math. Currently the group is studying probability.

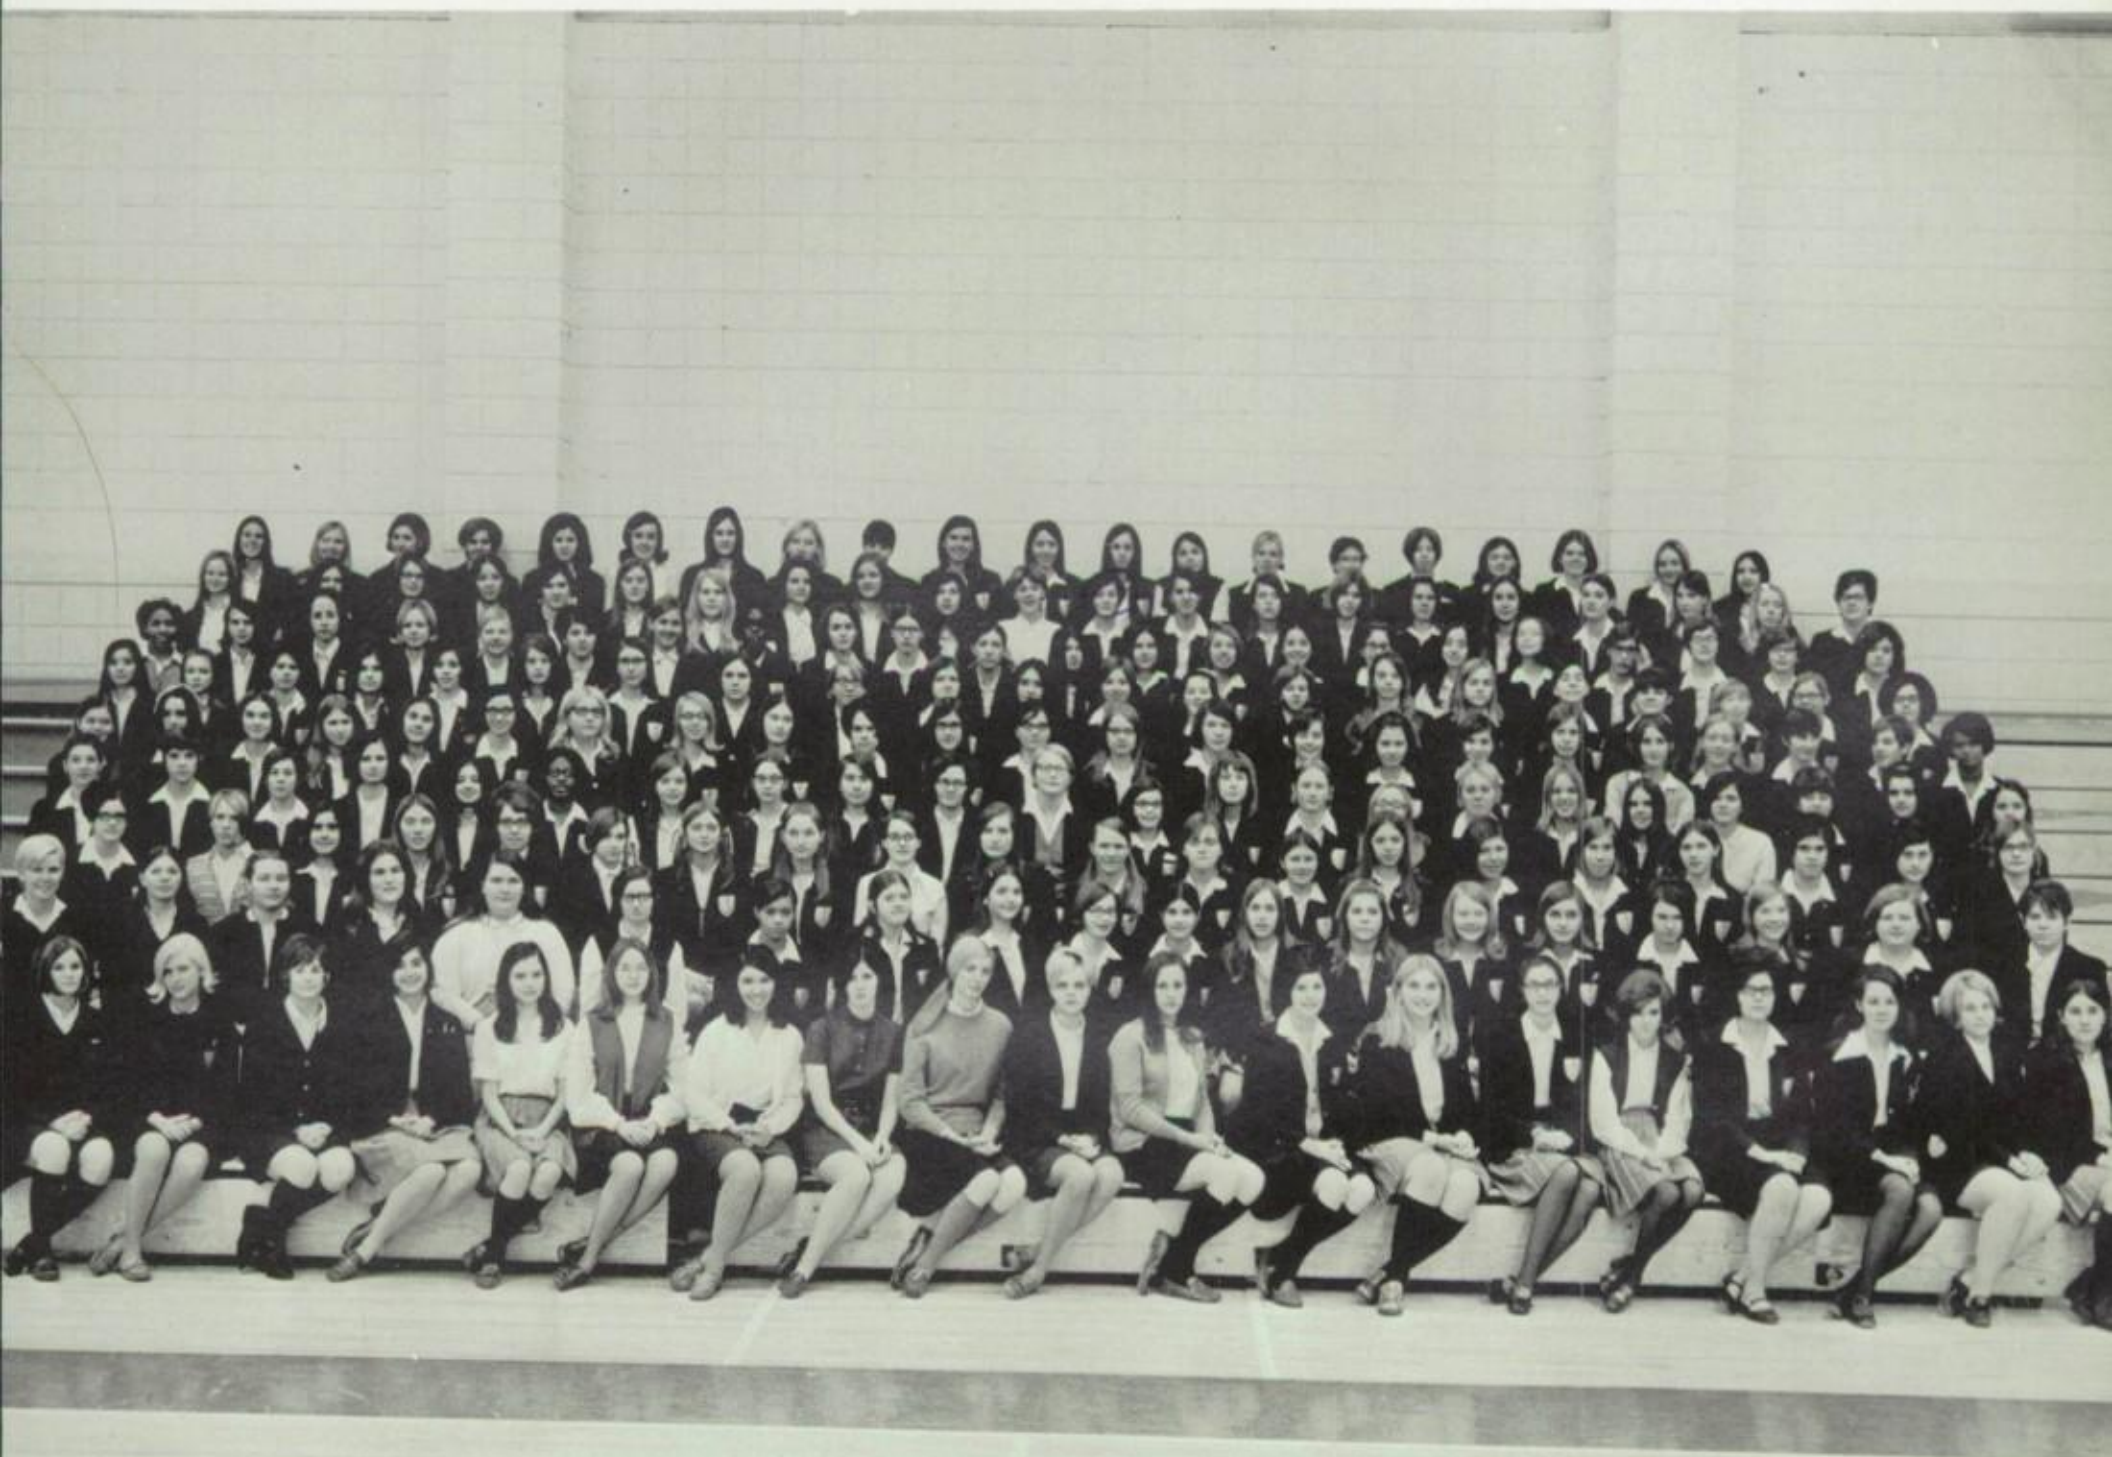

On their way to Central they go! T. Janicki, D. Kmetz, N. Susak, D. Muskovich, K. Ostrowski, C. Ziolkowski, D. Monyak, W. McDermott, D. Cauley, Sister Clare Ann, Sister Mary Frances, N. Savie, C. Narkevic, T. Gnajtovich.

Pepsters Spread Spirit

You can always sense the day of a big game at Quigley. Banners wave, painted signs appear, and burgundy jackets dot the halls. All these are indications that the Pep Club has arrived. Quigley's mightiest promoter of school spirit, the Pep Club, also boosts unity and a spirit of pride in the Spartan jacket.

Business Honor Studies Professional Skills

The Business Honor Society of Quigley High School promotes scholarship and creates and encourages interest in business education. This, in turn, helps members to grow ethically, intellectually, and socially. Members must attend all meetings and participate in all society activities in order to be eligible for the "Certificate of Achievement."

Belonging to the Business Honor Society chapter at Quigley, under the direction of Sister Rebecca, is a rewarding experience as well as an opportunity for the students to acquire skills for both professional and personal use.

Members of the Business Honor Society: 1st Row, L. to R—V. Lauer, P. Strano, S. Van Dyke, P. D'Antonio, C. Calabria; 2nd Row: V. Valashan, M. Nemeth, C. Alexander, M. Wargo, P. Montini.

Student United Nations Thrives

The Student United Nations is an almost nationwide association of students who enact the world-wide organization in miniature. Its purpose is to study and practice the organization, procedure and patterns of the United Nations and to show the participants the highly technical and meaningful efforts of the U.N. to achieve world peace and friendly relations among nations.

Quigley's S.U.N. members become actively involved in important issues similar or identical to issues confronting the U.N. They learn the philosophy of respect for human rights and overall fundamental freedoms. S.U.N. at Quigley is a center for bonding the thoughts of students in preparing them to be the future diplomats and politicians for the betterment of the world.

Exploring Facets of Nursing

One of the newest organizations at Quigley, the Future Nurses Club, aims to orientate prospective nurses to hospital duties and routines. This year the group toured several Pittsburgh institutions and participated in Sewickley Hospital's conference on health careers. Under the capable direction of Sister Anne Green, the girls are offered an excellent opportunity to explore the various facets of a nursing career and to give valuable assistance to others.

Sr. Anne Green, moderator, checks plans with president Christine Jurkowski and vice-president Bernadette Ross.

Missioners

Seek Out Needy

The Mission Club is one of the most popular organizations at Quigley High School. No restrictions are placed on membership and no dues are solicited. The members do, however, participate in or sponsor drives in order to raise funds. Proceeds from these are given to the foreign missions or to people in the immediate area who are in dire need of material or financial assistance.

Quigley's Songsters . . . Ambassadors

"... If you are among the very young at heart ..." The finely tuned and precise voices of the Young Hearts Ensemble blend together in song at many school functions and after-school jam sessions. Consisting of the best voices in the Glee Club and under the direction of Father Marvin Justi, the eight girls and five boys prepare a great variety of songs and sing them well. In addition to appearing at school assemblies, the group performs for many organizations in the Beaver Valley.

Fr. Marvin gives final instructions to Young Hearts: Candace Biller, Robert Klengler, Joseph D'Agostino, Mary Diaddigo, Julianna Paczak, Debbie George, Pat Montini, Cathy Gavita, D. Cauley, J. Smith, T. Tormey, Art Taylor, Celeste Calabria, and Louis Gabriel.

of Cheer and Good Fellowship

Quigley High School's Glee Club, an enthusiastic and melodious group of seniors and juniors, raises high the rafters with song while presenting the joys of music to the entire student body. The group can be heard every Monday and Friday sending strains of the "Hallelujah Chorus" or "Sleighride" throughout the halls. Open to students who enjoy music and love to sing, the Glee Club performs for the public twice annually and greets faculty and student body at each new season.

Marathon Offers News at Its Best

The MARATHON, Quigley's official newspaper, offers readers an up-to-the-minute account of news and school activities. The newspaper keeps its subscribers informed of club activities, sports, and student endeavors and achievements, while the editorials point out the serious thoughts and opinions of the staff. Mr. Waxenfelter, advisor, and the staff welcome all interested students to share with their artistic and journalistic talents.

Budding Artists

Color Quigley Scene

Under the expert direction of Sister Charlotte, V.S.C., the Art Club at Quigley brightens the school and many hearts therein with products of their fine craftsmanship, whether these be original silk-screened greeting cards or gay Spartan ribbons. The eighth period students devote much effort to their favorite subject and offer their time for such added tasks as decorating the windows of the Diocesan Building for Christmas.

Members of the club include Pam Bennett, L. Yeykal, M. Kutzko, T. Onderick, O. Young, M. Michaels, G. Yates, T. Radovic, G. Hartle, T. Hartle, J. Evans, A. M. Firkaly, J. Bates, K. Capson, P. Generation '70 Staff Sings Praises of the Young and Alive

Long hours of hard, detailed work and a contagious spirit of enthusiasm dominated the production of the 1970 GENERATION.

Very ably led by editor-in-chief, Julie Caffro, associate editor Pam Bennett, layout editor Charlene Mikush, production editor Patricia Savie, and literary editor Mary Beth Mlakar, the yearbook staff has spared no effort in an attempt to captivate and preserve within these pages the YOUNG and ALIVE spirit which permeates everything that is a part of Quigley.

Yearbook moderator is Miss Rose Kadison.

Busy at their typing jobs are Sharlene Van-Dyke, Pat D'Antonio, Antoinette Nolfi, Dolores Brush and Doris Matich.

Staff Photographer, Anne Hummel, prepares to snap picture of Business Editor Pat Montini and her staff: Doris Matich, Pauline Komara, Celeste Calabria, Vivian Lauer, Pat Wilton, Roselea McGarry and Beverly Kerecman.

Moderator, Miss Kadison, checks division page with Literary Editor, Mary Beth Mlakar, and Layout Editor, Charlene Mikush.

Staff writers Julianna Paczak, Diane Srafin, and Pat Porto, prepare final copy.

1970 Generation Queen

Charming, gay, delightful ... all these describe Quigley's intensely Young and Alive 1970 GENERATION QUEEN, ANNE HUMMEL. Anne, who hails from St. Cecilia Parish in Rochester, devotes her spare time to all kinds of active sports, especially swimming, basketball, ice skating and horseback riding. This winning lass plans a career in nursing and hopes to travel in the future.

Federation, Sweetheart

Senior beauty, Patricia Strano, was elected by her classmates to represent Quigley High School at the annual Diocesan Federation Ball held at the Pittsburgh Hilton in November.

As Quigley's official delegate Patty, attired in a royal blue gown topped with a golden bolero, participated in the formal ballroom waltz with Art Taylor, her escort. The rest of the evening was spent dancing to music reflecting the theme, "O What a Night!"

Balls Enhance Social Activities

Heralding winter's end and the approach of spring is Quigley's annual Sweetheart Ball. This year's event, sponsored by the Student Council, featured the music of the "La Tears." The theme of the semi-formal, beautifully worked out in decoration, was "A Time for Us."

Junior-Senior Prom

Highlights Social Calendar

A host of Quigleyites enjoyed a memorable night at last year's junior-senior prom. Set amidst lavish "Grecian Splendor," the season's top formal was held in Pittsburgh's Carnegie Music Hall. Couples danced the evening away to the music of the "El Pooks."

An added delight of the night's activities was the post-prom, held aboard the Gateway Partyliner. For the lucky couples that participated it was truly an affair to be remembered forever.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU, this year's senior class play, centers around the family of the Vanderhofs who live in a state of perpetual confusion. Only Alice (Diane Cauley) seems to have escaped the tinge of mild insanity. She falls in love with Tony Kirby (Chris Gallio) but they find that family differences make for many problems. All seems lost until Grandfather (Mike Goodrich) steps in and turns all into a happy and entertaining adventure.

The Quigley High Junior Varsity football team came on strong during its first season. The first game gave the Spartans their first six markers on the field even though they lost to Center 8-6. But learning comes with playing and the growing experience of the Spartans produced 20 points against Neville Island's 6. Serra Catholic proved that the Spartans could do it twice in a row. Then came the slump. Spartans went down to the strength of Rochester 26-6 and Quaker Valley proved equal to Quigley. But Bishop Boyle's undefeated season disappeared as Quigley won on a safety with 00:46 to play. Northwestern proved itself no match as the Spartans ended a winning season with a 6-0 victory.

Congratulations to a fine team on a fine season!

Several changes took place in Quigley's third year of varsity basketball. The first and most important was the hiring of the new mentor for the team, Mr. Nick Macaluso. The second was Quigley's assignment to a new section in the Pittsburgh Catholic Diocesan League: Class B, section 1, a much tougher division than section 2. Finally, the Spartans won more games this year than in the previous two years combined.

Ending the exhibition season with a fine 6-6 record, the Spartans moved on to league play. Losses occurred against South Side Catholic (70-62) and St. Anselm's (67-32). Then two victories, the first over St. Thomas (79-72) and the second over Lawrenceville Catholic (67-61), evened league play at 2-2. The Spartans then lost four straight games. The defeats were suffered at the hands of St. Basil (86-48), last year's Class B Catholic state champs, Mon Valley (74-60), St. Anselm (79-46) and South Side Catholic (85-68).

Quigley's final victory occurred when the Spartans hosted St. Thomas (55-38). The last three league games were losses handed by Mon Valley (84-55), Lawrenceville Catholic (79-75) and St. Basil (66-61).

Season play ended for the Spartans with an overall record of 9-15. Next year's varsity will suffer the loss of Greg Kuzma and Rich Mlechick, both seniors. But the team will be powered by some experienced underclassmen: Ed Fawcett, who broke the high scoring record with 457 points; Kevin Ostrowski, the Spartans' leading rebounder; Ray Zagrocki, who makes some tremendous shots; Mike Diaddigo, Bill Veon and Tom Laughlin, all fine outside shooters. Thus the prospects for a winning season next year appear very bright for the Spartan varsity cagers.

Junior Varsity Racks Up Impressive Record

Quigley J.V.'s also had their best year to date as coach Mr. Rowse led the team to a 15-7 record. The season's premiere was a 46-25 victory over St. Vincent. The second outing didn't prove so fruitful as Quigley lost by one (29-28) to Center. The J.V.'s then went on to win 7 in a row. Victims were Northwestern (49-53), Quaker Valley (37-48), Freedom (47-50), St. Fidelis (62-91), South Side Beaver (19-60), St. Joseph Hall (17-57), and Sewickley Academy (33-52).

League games began with South Side defeating Quigley (41-43). Spartan victories over St. Anselm (30-40), St. Thomas (51-92), and Lawrenceville (41-66) followed. The season's fourth loss occurred against St. Basil (61-45). Then the J.V.'s sparked two more victories over Mon Valley (51-72) and St. Anselm (31-56). Quigley then lost again to South Side Catholic (56-55) in a heartbreaker. St. Thomas (21-79) and Mon Valley (52-53) gave Quigley its final two victories. The season closed as Lawrenceville (59-57) and St. Basil (49-43) defeated the Spartans.

Quigley's J.V.'s scored 1,236 points against 906 for the opposition in season play. They lost 5 games by 1 or 2 points and averaged 59 points a game as compared with 41 points scored by the opposition. Truly they had a great season.

Girls' Basketball Team Debuts

Under the capable guidance of Mrs. Marian Evans, Quigley High School's first girls' basketball team has been established. All winter long the girls worked hard to ready themselves for competition with other Beaver County high schools. Their contests this year have been very limited, however, due to the late formation of the team. Plans laid for next season include a tough schedule.

All the girls involved have said that it has been a great deal of fun, and junior class teamsters await next year. Senior members, led by Marie Knafelc, captain, regrets the fact that they will not be on hand for the first regular season of play, but they are grateful for the experience and good times they gained during the past year.

Varsity Cheer

Senior Cheerleader: Roselea McGarry

leaders Spark School Spirit

Varsity Cheerleaders: Cathy DeLeonardis, Mary Beth Stablow, Roselea McGarry, Celeste Calabria, Chris Jurkowski, Debbie Good, Arlene Washington, Pat Cellini.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons, the Quigley High Varsity Cheerleaders were always there, continually exhibiting enthusiasm and spirit as they led the student body and our teams to victory. In addition to leading pep assemblies and cheers at games, they also sponsored a Tag Day and a Bonfire Dance. The Varsity squad also participated and ranked high in the Beaver County Cheerleading Competition at Center High.

1970 Basketball King and Queen

The official end of the 1970 Spartan basketball season was marked by a special assembly featuring the coronation of seniors Celeste Calabria and Greg Kuzma as Basketball Queen and King at Quigley High.

Celeste, captain of this year's varsity cheerleaders, was selected for the honor by the student body. Greg, senior cager, was the choice of Quigley's coaching staff.

Father Fred Just, the school's athletic director, crowned the 1970 Basketball Royalty in a colorful ceremony.

Wide Variety of Sports Activities

Under the direction of Mr. Driscoll, Quigley High School inaugurated a strong intramural sports program this year. It is run during activities period with each class assigned one day per week.

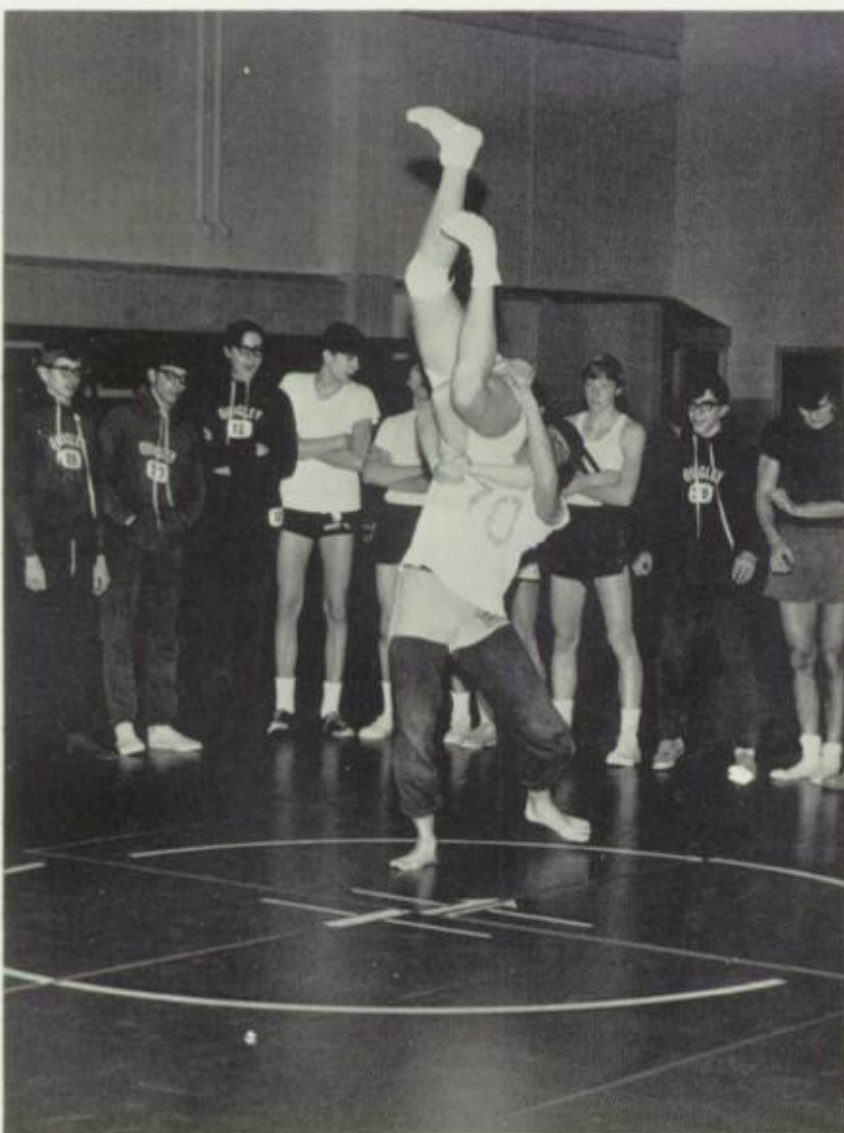

In the boys' division, fall means football. Winter brings basketball, wrestling and weightlifting. The top spring event is baseball.

Girls participate in basketball, ping pong and relay races all year round.

To climax the end of an event, playoffs are held among participating classes to determine the school championship.

Underclassmen

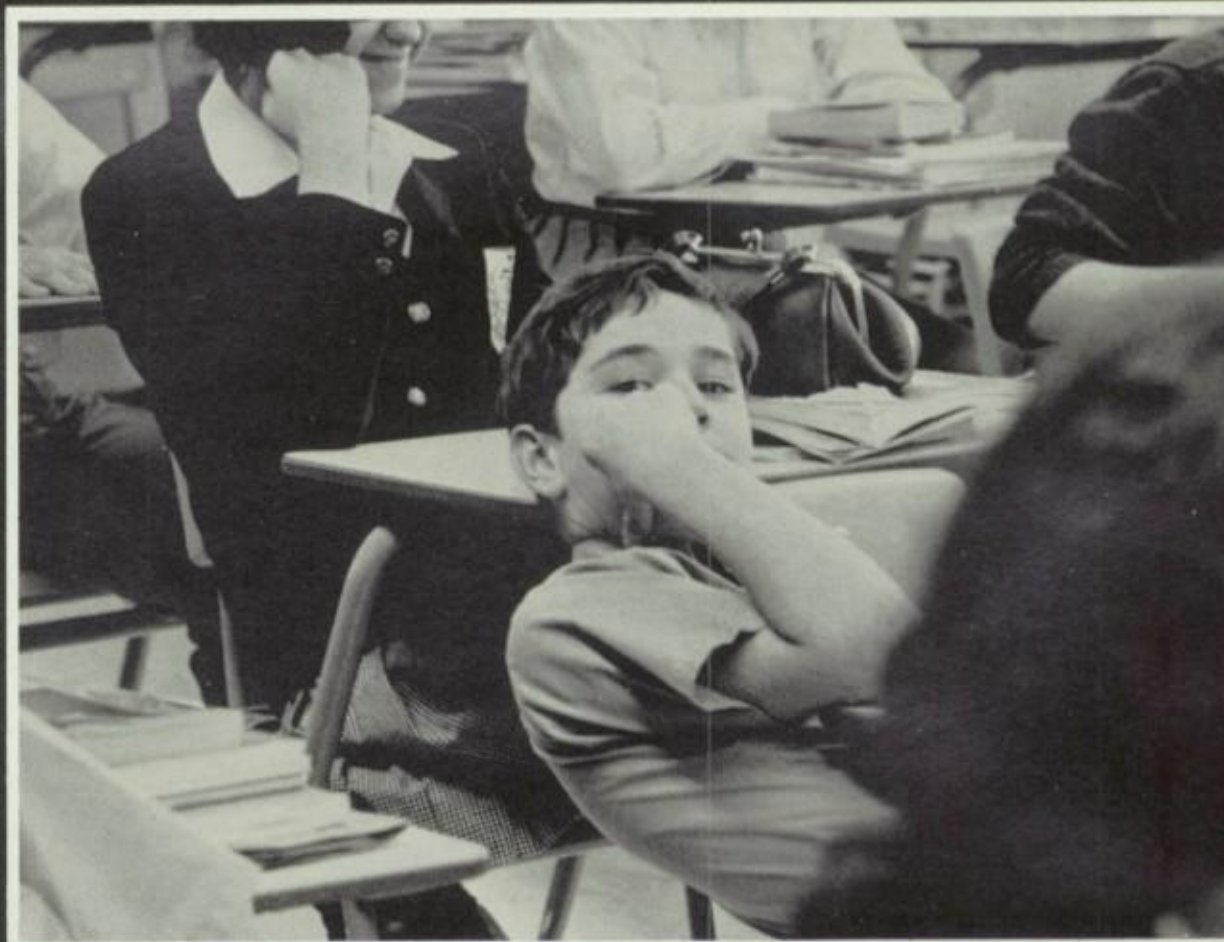

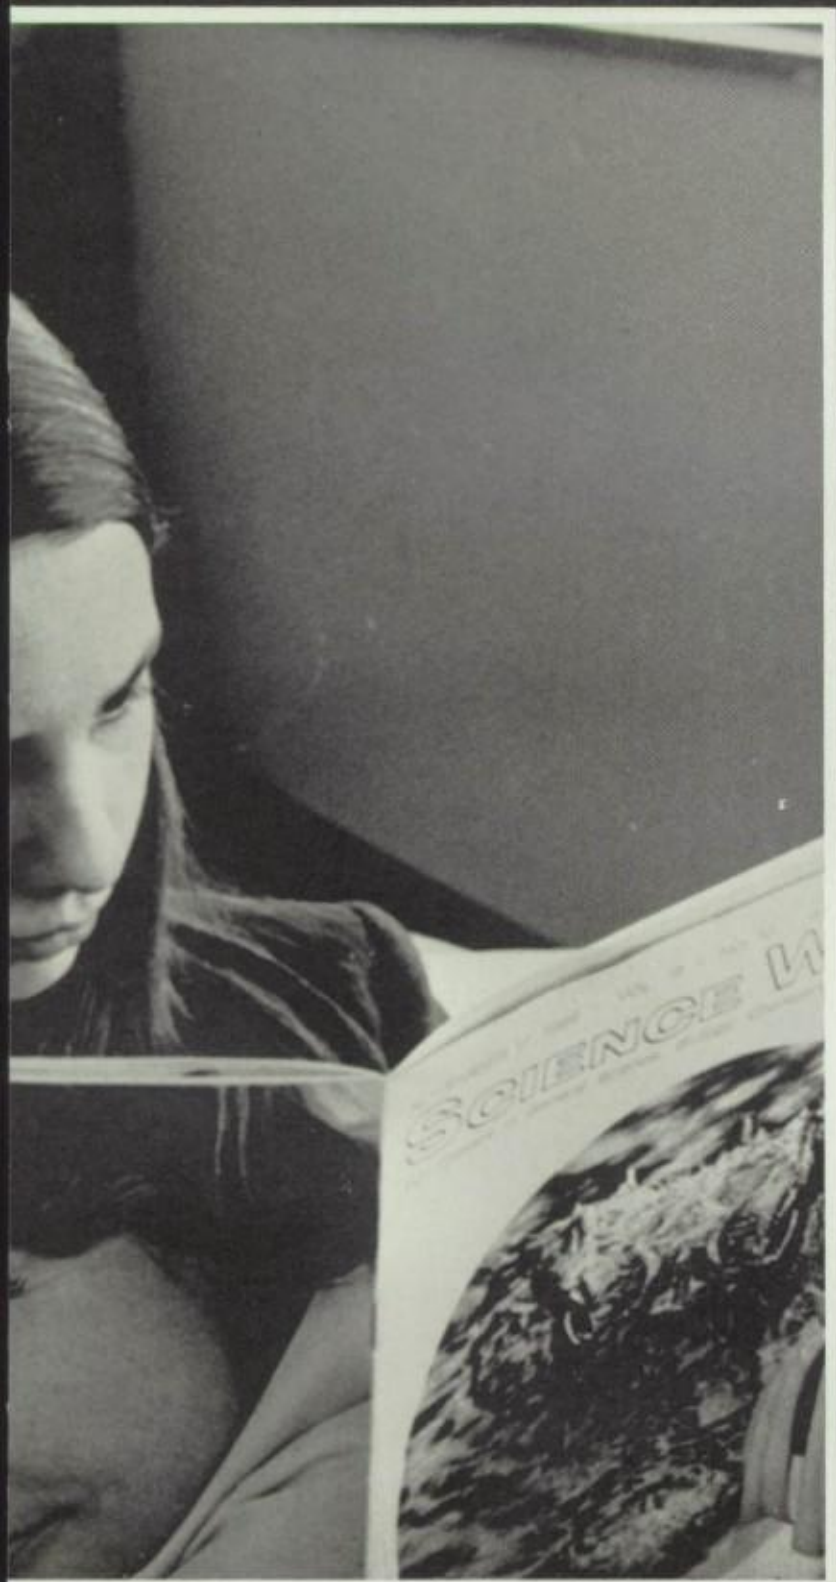

They're everywhere—
the great, the not so silent
majority of freshmen,
sophomores,
and juniors.

They come in all sizes,
like burgundy and white
smile a lot
and are always there.

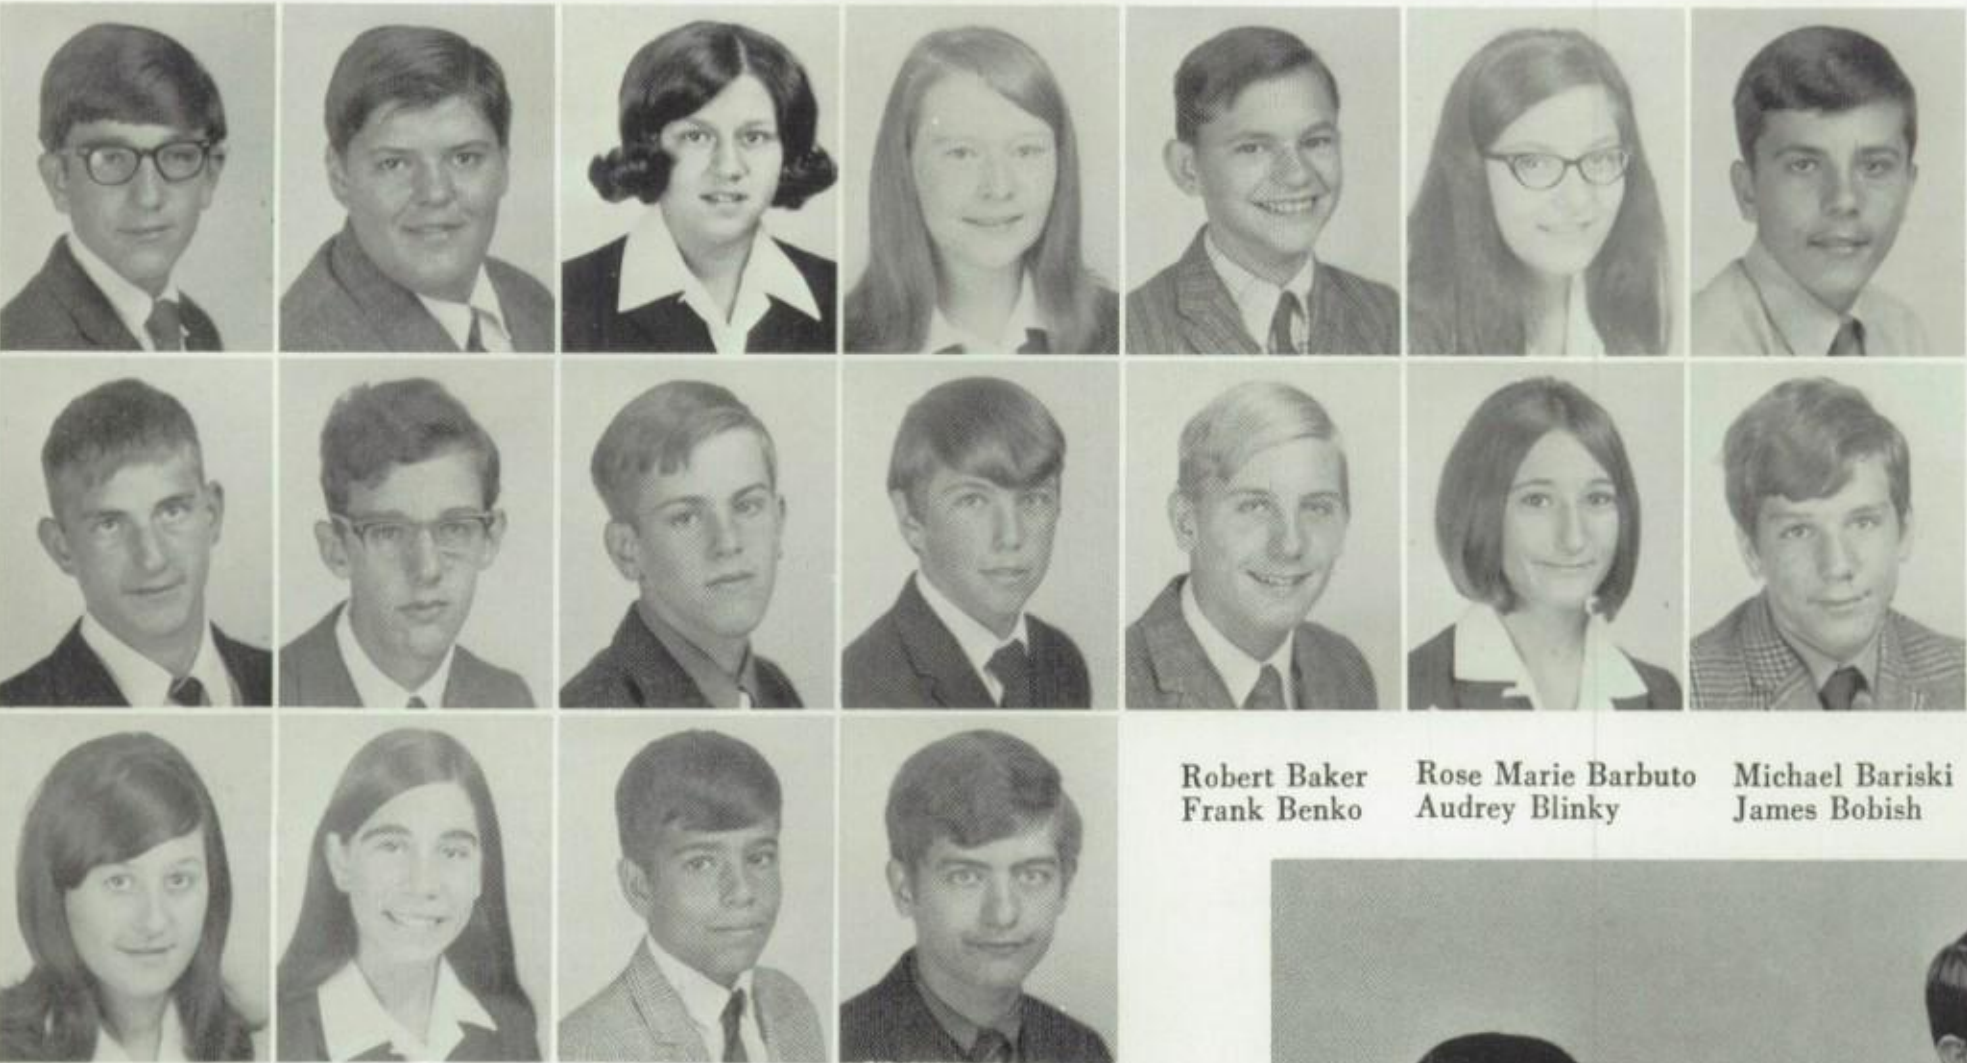

They belong,
They are young,
They are alive,
They are Quigley.

Generation '70- Young and Alive

We came carefree
and green,
anxious to begin
that race,
ready to touch
the stars.

Marching in the front door for that
first time,
we found that smiles
came easy.
Then they faded into
the realities
of study.

But smiles were soon
revived at dances
and games—
with friends
and, sometimes,
alone.

Life became a see-saw
with its ups
and downs.

The lonely, hard and
sad times came, too,
as they always will,
and we learned to live them
... maybe not always
with a smile,
but we made it,
together.

And the laughing,
bright and blithe
times,
the beautiful
memories

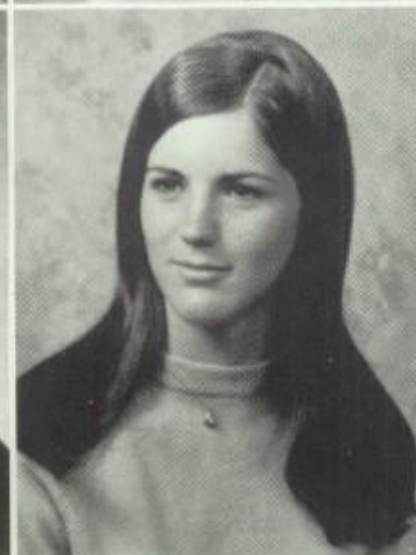

for a rainy day
of the countless joys of life.

And the freedom
times,
when our minds
wandered deeply,
searchingly
into studies
or out of the tempting window
to the very first snowfall.

And for each of us
there came—
at one time or another—
precious loves,
deep fears,
the unspeakable joys
of being,
of sharing,
of belonging,
of realizing
that we, too,
are an indispensable part
of the '70
generation,
of the generation
that lived
fully,
that lives
greatly
because,
thanks to the grace
of God,
we are YOUNG
and ALIVE.

For three years now
our red brick building has been a real center of learning,
a real center of activity
in this community.

And the community has given much to Quigley in return—
its vibrant spirit,
its support and encouragement,
its concern.

That we are Young and Alive today
in a healthy, healthful
environment
is a source of joy,
is a source of pride
to us.

We thank you, friends
for caring about us,
the 1970 Generation.

We care about you, too.

Joan,
You a cute girl with a great personality.
Maybe I'll see you
at the airport this summer (ha. ha.) Good Luck always

Senior Farewell

Don't turn around and say good-bye
Don't even look over your shoulder
You might remember . . .
the cold halls
a good friend
or a lost pen
that you loved so well.

Instead, forget,
Go your separate ways,
so young and alive,
to unknown futures
in promised lands.

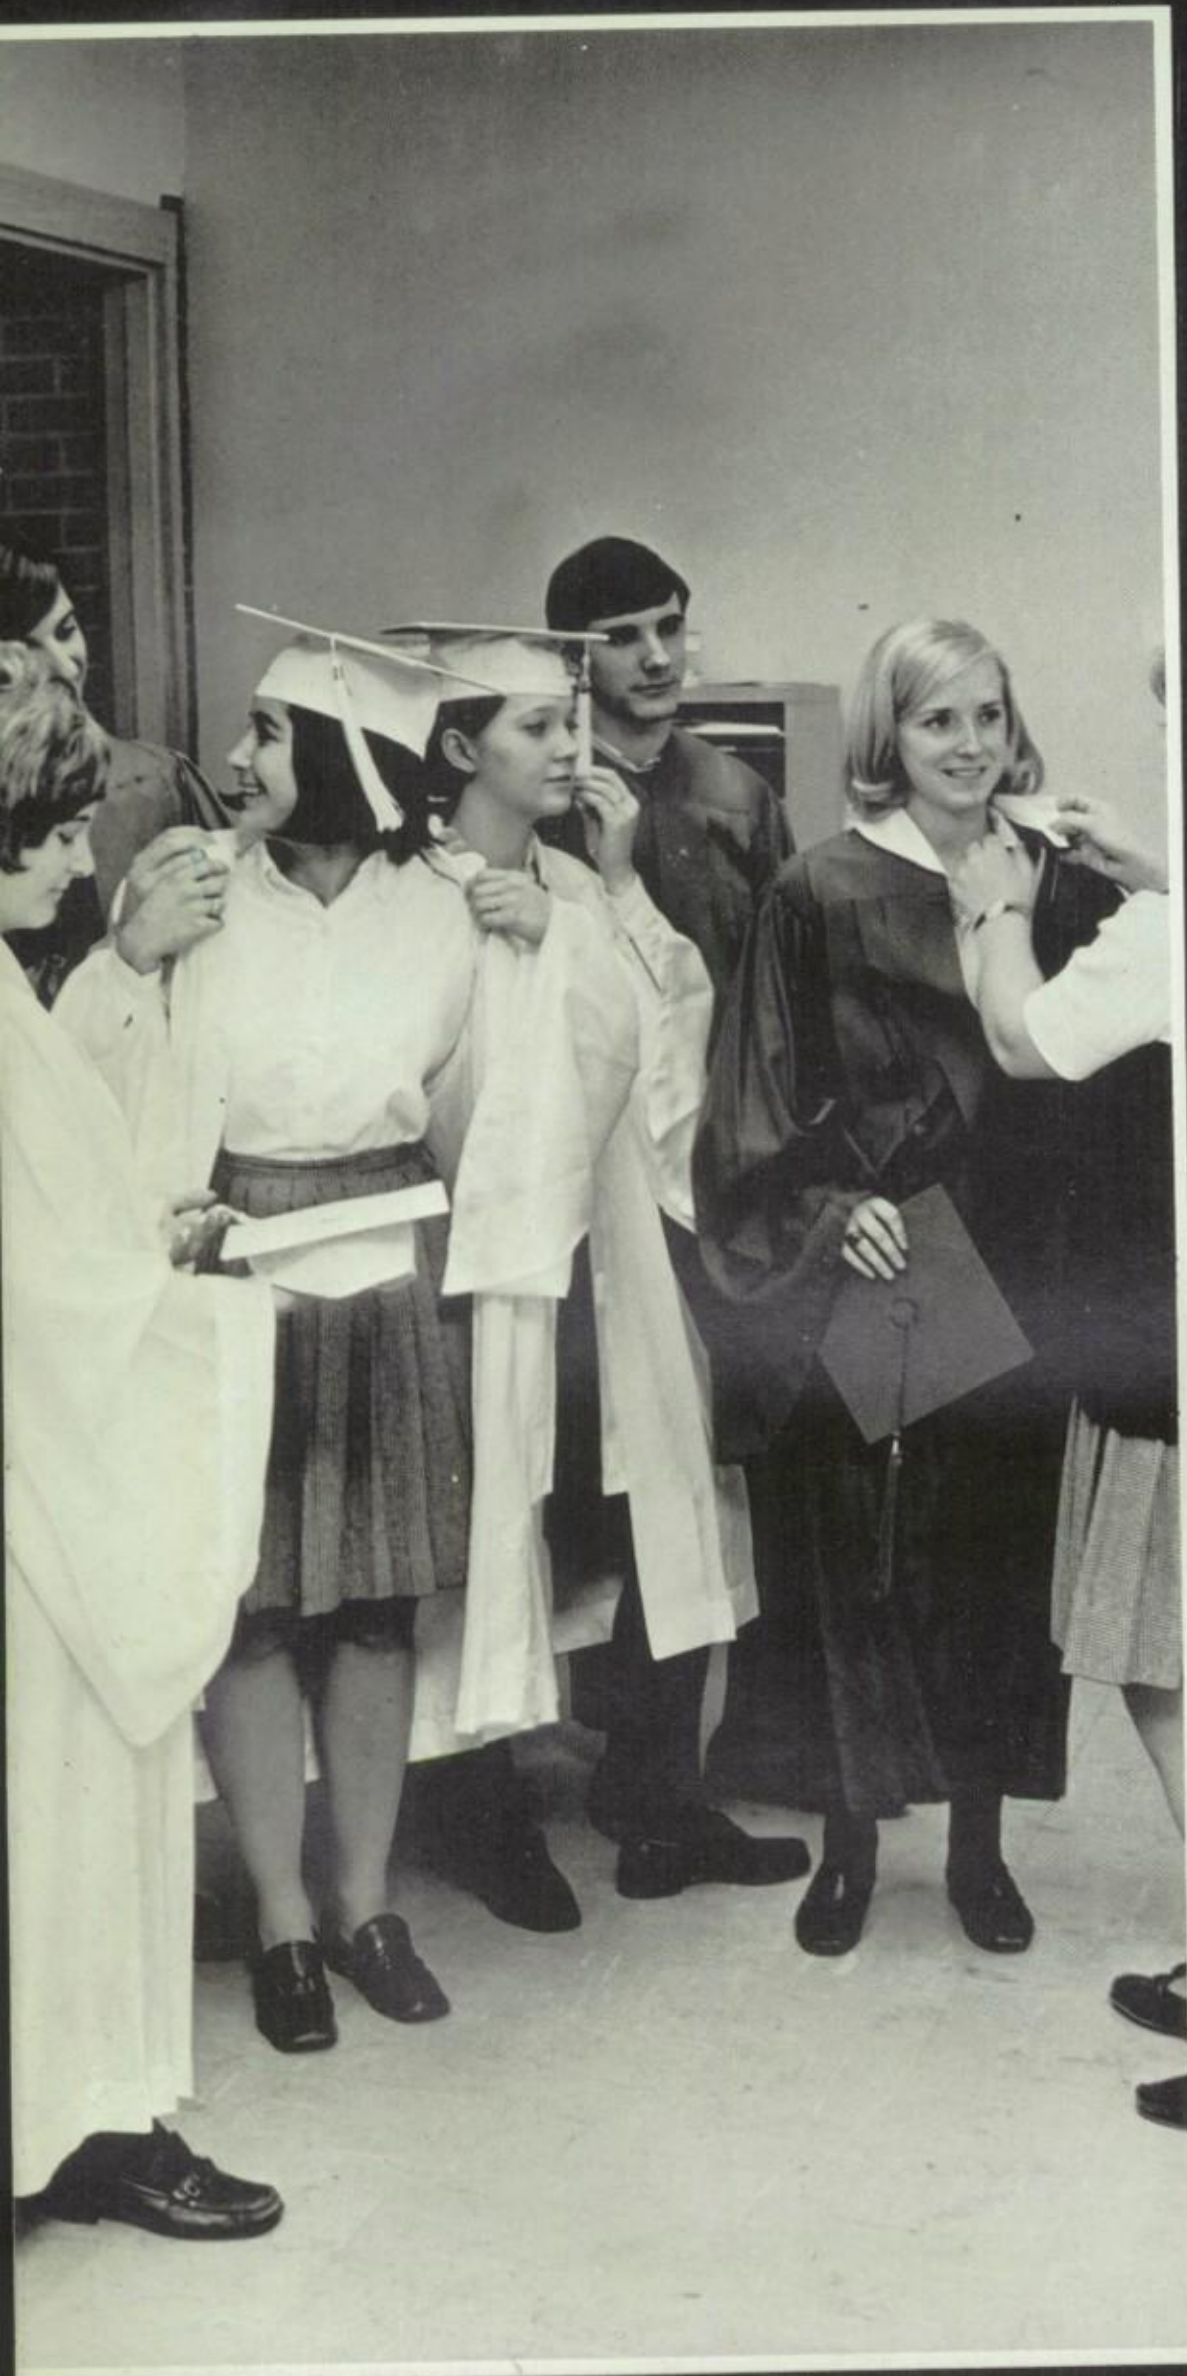

But
some will still turn 'round
and wish
and remember
and still love

And
to the others
who never turn
and leave in full stride
there will yet
remain the memory
of burgundy and white
blue uniforms
a cold hall
a good friend
or a lost pen
. . . that you loved so well.

Final Reflections of the Young and Alive Generation

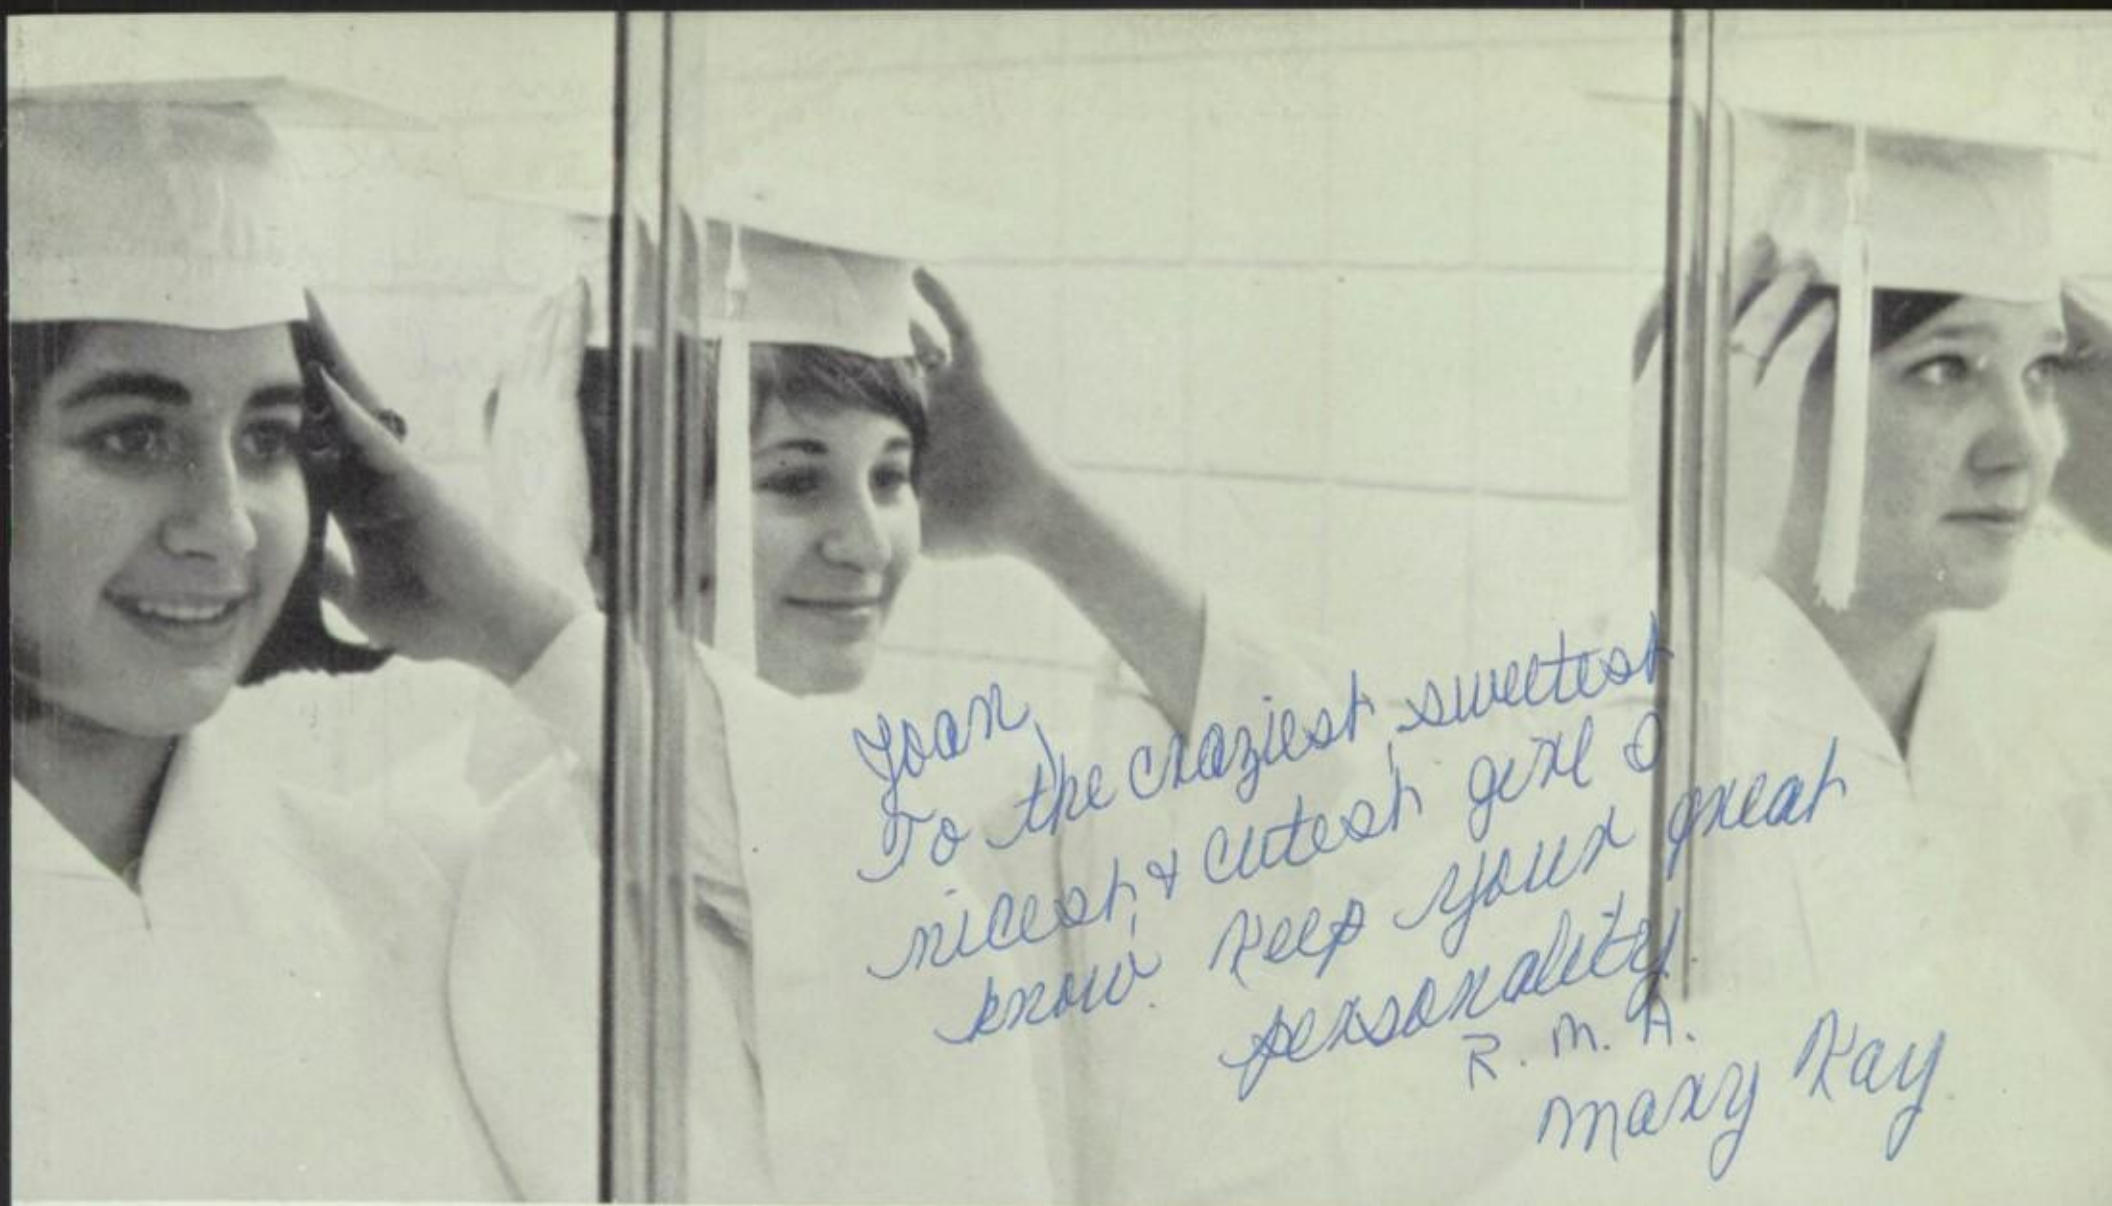

In the early days at Quigley
we grew;
we learned to accept
many things.

To most of us, this process
of acceptance
was difficult—
facing the difference between theory
and practice.

But now, years later,
we realize
that lessons we learned
were a definite factor
in our development—
an important factor,
because
not only did we learn
but, more important,
we learned to question,
to search,
to give.

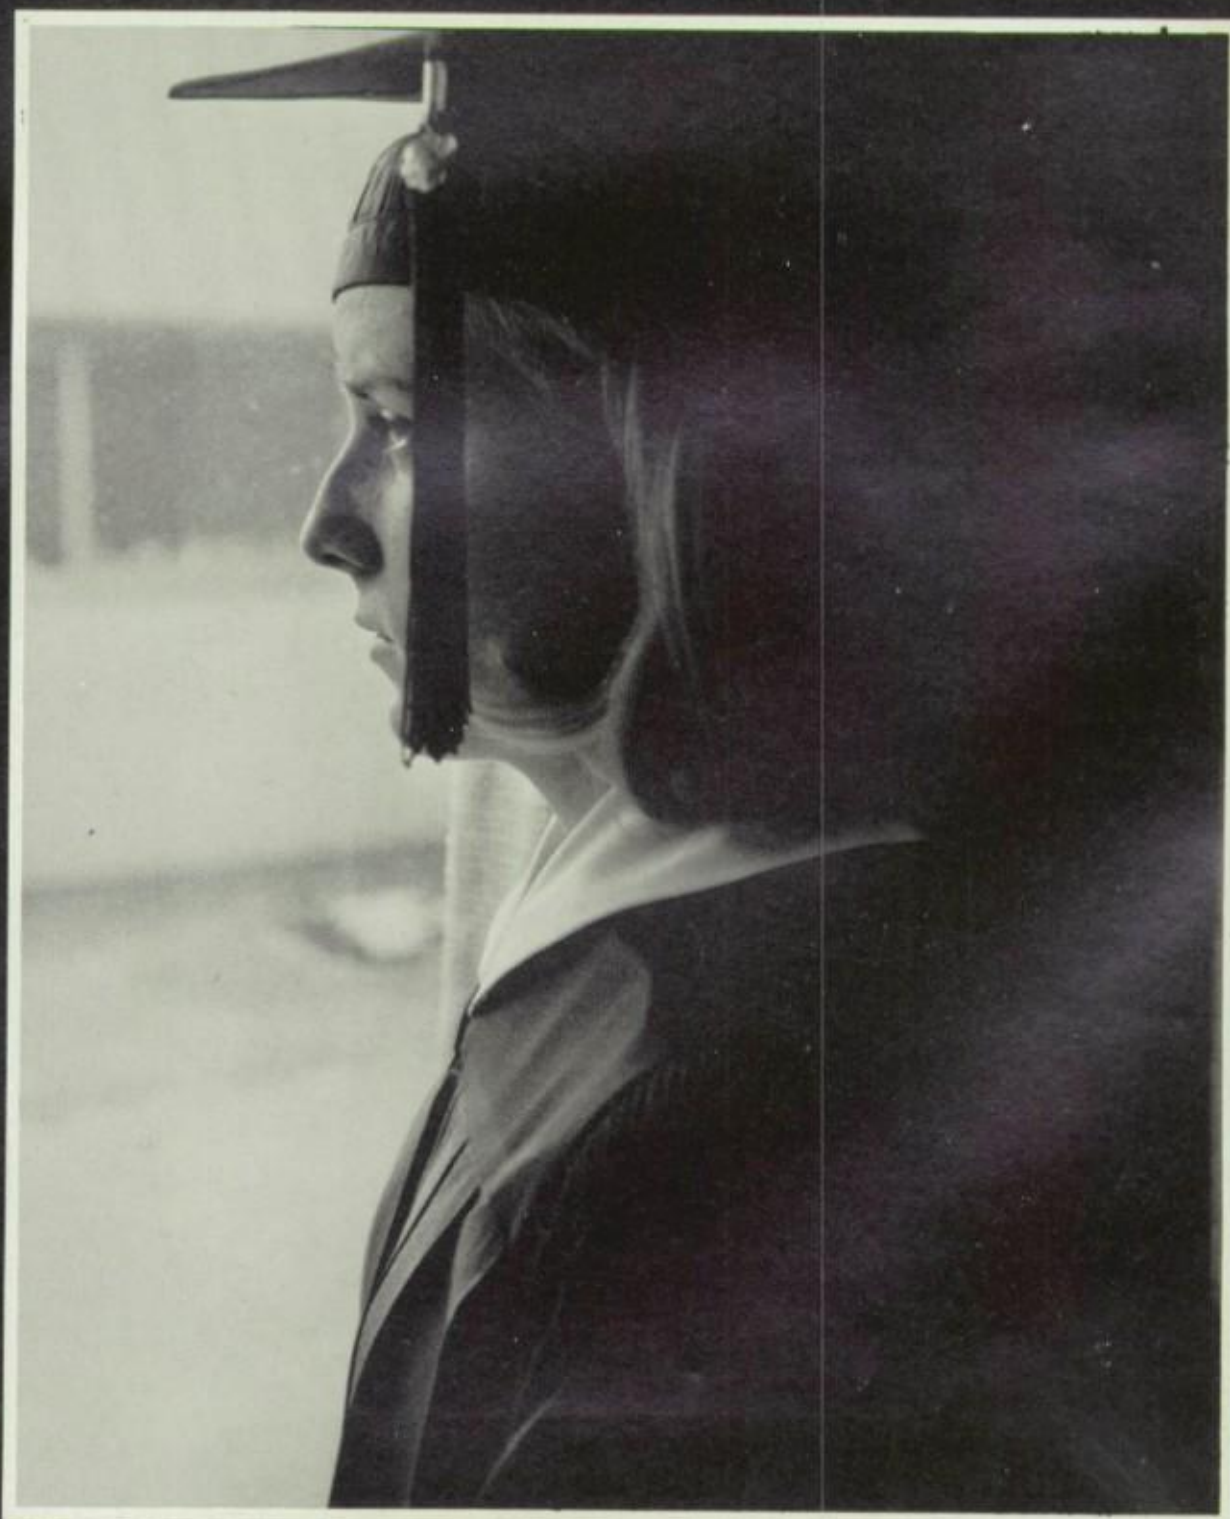

And,
most of us affirm
that Quigley
has probably done
more for us
than we have done
for Quigley.

Thus,
as we prepare to take our leave,
we feel—
feel a lingering presence
that will remain
after we pass
through these doors—
the presence of all who,
like us,
came,
learned,
and left
a little wiser
and a little better than when they first arrived.

we walk—
 walk slowly down long halls
 still fresh
 with the memory of
 fallen books,
 scattered papers,
 loitering footsteps,
 traffic jams.

we hear—
 hear voices
 that we soon must leave,
 voices that
 sang
 and laughed,
 recited
 and lectured,
 cried
 and shouted
 and whispered.

Joan,
To real nice girl
who can't make up
her mind if she is coming back or not.
Great, your staying.
we see—

see as never before
the intangible spirit
ever present
in heart and mind,
uniting all—
teacher,
student,
administrator,
alumnus.

we sense—

sense as we leave
still Young
and Alive—
as we leave
to take our places
in a new age,
the value
of friendship,
the bonds
of companionship,
the love,
the concern,
the commitment
that are Quigley.

and we say

a fond a tender
a sad
farewell.
